'DEATH BATTLE' RAGES AT KIEV

Moose Elect Officers, Parade Today

CANTON MAN'S NEW GOVERNOR OF OHIO ORDER

Dornhecker Elected as State President; Ritchie Heads Mansfield District.

PARADE STARTS AT 3 P. M.

Thousands to Jam Downtown Street; 17 Bands, 15 Floats To Be In March.

Bringing business sessions to a close this morning, delegates and visitors to 12th annual state Moose convention today elected Charles Dornhecker of Canton as state president and then rushed final preparations for their convention parade today at 3 p. m.

Expected to pack Mansfield's flag-decorated downtown with thousands of spectators, the parade starts at Park avenue west and Bowman street, proceeds east on Park avenue, around Central park, north on Main to Fourth street and then west on Fourth street to Bowman street.

A parachute jump from a plane over Central park will signal start of the parade. Taylor Mast, Mansfield jumper, will leap, unfurling an American flag as he floats to the ground.

There will be 17 marching bands, 15 floats, and thousands of delegates and Moose members, many of them uniformed drill teams marching in the parade expected to be some three miles in length.

Meanwhile, new state and district officers elected this morning prepared to be installed in office.

Dornhecker, new state president, will be installed as successor to W. D. Campbell, of Cambridge,

Ex-Convict Slain, Believed Victim Of 'Craps' Losers

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—Two youths today shot and killed Michael Nester, 39-year-old ex-convict, as he left the apartment o fhis sister left the apartment of his sister Lakeview housing project.

The tragedy occured an hour and a half after the victim's wife, Marietta, 24, gave birth to their second child, an eight-pound boy at Women's hospital.

Nester was slain at 1 a. m. today, shortly after he had left a "craps game" at a pool room owned by George Vargo. The owner said the victim left $300 with him before he left.

Vargo told police that approximately 15 persons who had played in the game with Nester, left when he did. Vargo stated that Nester had "won consistently" during the last two weeks.

In addition to the money Nester had left with Vargo, $252 was found on his body. Sergt. Martin Cooney, head of the homicide squad, said that he believed robbery was the motive.

Cooney said that "heavy losers" probably followed Nester after the game intent on having their money returned and shot Nester when he refused them.

Jury Indicts In 37 Cases, 3 In Deaths

Kozma Faces Firearms Charge; Charges In 5 Cases Ignored.

Thirty-seven indictments, including charges in three of four fatal accidents investigated this week by the Richland county grand jury, were returned late yesterday by the jury after a four-day session

The jurors returned an indictment charging Andrew Kozma, 518 North Mulberry street, with discharging firearms after refusing to indict him for shooting with intent to wound his wife, the charge on which he was held by county authorities.

Kozma is accused of firing a shotgun charge through the window at his home Aug. 29. Although the charge narrowly missed his wife's head, she testified before the grand jury only after Judge C. H. Huston had instructed her to do so, the court attaches said. She contended that the shooting was accidental. Kozma has been free under bond.

The jury considered 42 cases, refusing to indict in five. Eighteen of the indictments were held secret pending the arrest of defendants named in them. The jury examined 132 witnesses.

No arraignment had been set today, but it was expected that the defendants will be taken before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston Monday afternoon or Tuesday.

Indicted in an open charge, Milo D. Thompson, 30, Ashland, was accused of second degree manslaughter in the death of 13-year-old Marion Richard Pryor in Lincoln Heights last July 15. Officers said Thompson was under the influence of alcohol when his car struck the boy.

The jury returned indictments in cases involving the deaths of Mrs. Hilda Greenwald, Cleveland, and Raymond Bricker, Shelby, R. D. 4, in traffic accidents, it was learned, but Prosecutor Harold Lutz did not reveal the nature of the charges or the identity of Train Demolishes Automobile; Father and Son Die.

PITMAN, N. J. —(INS)— Three persons—a father and son and a boarder in their home—were killed today when a Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore line train demolished their automobile at a grade crossing in nearby Sewell.

The victims were William Shutt, sr., 58; his son William, jr., 17, and George Forman, 50, of Tyler's Mill road just outside of Sewell.

Police said Shutt and his son were tossed clear of the wreckage and died instantly. Forman was burned to death when the car, wedged against the third rail of the electrified tracks, caught fire.

Nazi Newspaper Asks Dutch To Halt Sabotage Slogan.

LONDON — (AP) — Aneta, the Dutch news agency, said today that sabotage and anti-Nazi demonstrations are on the increase throughout Holland, and that resistance has reached a point where the Nazi-controlled newspaper Nieuwsblad Van Het Noorden has had to appeal against the spreading of the slogan, "The More Chaos the Better."

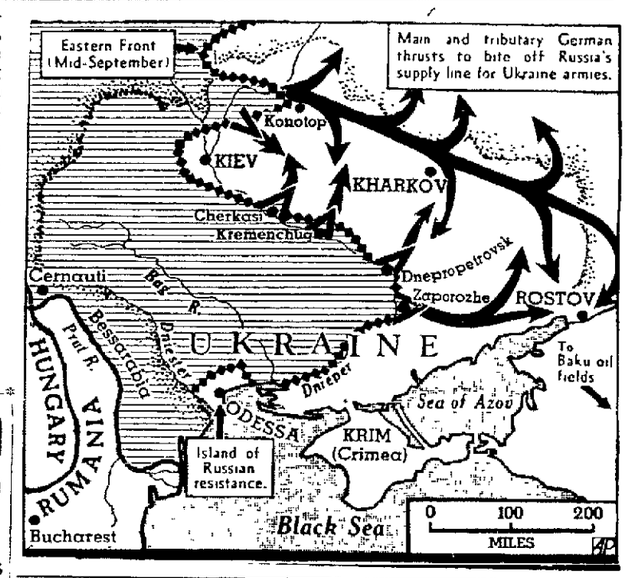
According to the Berlin censor, the radiophoto at top shows a column of German troops with horse drawn vehicles crossing the Dnieper river on a pontoon bridge. The Dnieper served as the last natural bulwark against the Nazi advance into the south Ukraine. Although the Germans have claimed the capture of Kiev, vital Ukrainian city, the Russians have admitted only "heavy fighting" there. The map shows the directions in which the German army is attempting to move in the Ukraine campaign, a series of progresive pincer movements, designed to envelop vital Red cities and troop concentrations.



PLANS RICHLAND DEFENSE SET-UP

Fox, Legion Commander, Says All County Organizations Will Be Asked to Help.

Plans for the organization of a Richland county home defense unit were announced today by Sam Fox, commander of McVey post, American Legion.

Fox said that all organizations in the county interested in working for home defense would be invited to join the organization.

Mayor William J. Locke yesterday appointed Municipal Court Judge G. E Kalbfliesch as general chairman of the unit.

Fox said that the organization was not being patterned after any other in the state and would be the first of its kind to his knowledge.

Announcement of the plans was being made, he said, to enable other organizations wishing to help work out a defense program to co-operate. Combinations of all groups into one active force, Fox feels, would eliminate duplicated efforts later.

The commander emphasized that the new defense unit would not be a Legion organization but a community affair which the Legion hopes to help develop.

Convention Crowd, Grid Game Keep Traffic Squad On Jump

Mansfield's traffic squad had its first real workout last night when hundreds of motorists jammed city streets en route to the Mansfield-West Akron football game and sessions of the 12th annual Ohio State Moose convention.

And there was no rest in view for the traffic policemen today. The three-mile long Moose convention parade at 3 p. m. and the influx of Saturday shoppers from all parts of the county were calculated to give police plenty of extra work Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals announced that several members of the regular police department were called upon last night to supplement the traffic squad of five men and two regulars.

This afternoon the traffic squad was to get more help. Police Chief Meade K. Bates has ordered practically every member of the department out for detail in handling traffic during the parade.

Boals said that little difficulty was experienced in handling last night's traffic load, although more than 7,000 people were on the streets. Attendance at the high school football game was estimated at 4,000. Another 2,000 members of the Moose lodge were circulating about the city.

Special parking zones have been set up for Moose members near the lodge home on Walnut street. Police have also blocked off parts of the square where work is being done on the reviewing stand for this afternoon's parade.

GERM ISOLATED

Institute Reports Discovery Of Influenza Virus.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa—(INS)—The Institute of Medical Research in Cape Town announced today that the influenza germ has been isolated for the first time in history.

The statement said the germ was tracked down as a result of experiments undertaken at request of the South African defense department to prevent "repetition of the scourge which swept the world in 1918."

Dr. E H. Culver, director of the institute, declared: "We are absolutely certain we have isolated the germ. A vaccine soon will be prepared and we hope it will be wholly successful."

150 Plane Pilots In Mansfield Area Asked To Enlist

More than 150 licensed airplane pilots in the Mansfield area will be asked to enlist Monday in an Ohio wing of the national civil air defense unit being organized by the State Home Defense council.

James R. (Bud) Harrington, municipal airport manager, said that approximately 150 pilots and an additional 40 or 50 mechanics and radio operators from this district would be included in the new unit.

Earle L Johnson, state director of aeronautics, announced yesterday that all civil aviators and radio men will be recruited to develop an organization capable of carrying on aerial patrol, doing aerial mapping, ferrying pilots, carrying food and supplies and guarding airports should the occasion arise.

Formation of the civilian aviation personnel, estimated to be about 3,700 into local squadrons will proceed as soon as the wing

U. S. SPEEDING BOMBERS ON WAY TO RUSSIA

Races to Get Help to Soviet Before Nazi Onslaught 'Goes Too Far.'

FIGHTERS ALREADY SENT

American, British Missions Set To Promise Full Aid To Moscow.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The government today threw full energies into a race to get American bombers to Russia before the German onslaught goes too far.

Lend-lease officials, the state department and other agencies were working desperately to avoid another situation similar to those in which outside aid for a threatened nation did not arrive in time to check a German advance.

Lend-lease officials handle exports of war materials for Russia although the materials are not being paid for with lend-lease funds

The emphasis was on getting two-engined bombers and tanks to Russia. The production of bombers of the desired type has been speeded up greatly in recent weeks. Some are on the way to Russia. Officials believe many more would be available for shipment to Russia within a short time.

The only American planes actually to arrive in Russia thus far have been fighters, Lockheeds of the P-38 type. They were intended originally for British use and were diverted to Russia after arrival on the other side of the Atlantic.

The Russians need bombers more than they do fighters. The outcome of the present struggle in Russia appears to depend largely on whether the American bombers arrive while the Russians are still defending their homeland.

There were reports that some American tanks were en route to Russia via Vladivostok, for trans-

PEER RETURNED

Convict Sent Back to Prison After 'Special' Release.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said that William Peer, a convict released into the director's custody 27 days before his scheduled parole, was being returned to the London prison farm today.

Asked whether Peer, convicted of bribing the Lorain county sheriff, would remain at London until his scheduled parole, Oct. 11, Sherwood replied: "I don't know. I might take him out again Monday."

The director gave no reason for the return and said he had "no apologies to make" for taking Peer out of prison Sept. 15 to put him on a Franklin county trusty assignment "beneficial to his health."

The Ohio pardon and parole commission said it had rejected pleas from Peer's friends to free him earlier than Oct. 11.

Soviets Report Gunners Making Capture Costly

Germans Say Troops Have Marched Into Ukraine Capital But Reds Say 15 Divisions, Panzers Still Locked In Fierce All-Out Struggle.

BULLETIN

BERLIN — (AP) — A house-to-house mop up has completed the capture of Kiev to conclude what German war dispatches called today a perfect blitzkrieg with all the elements of surprise, speed and irresistible might of manpower and weapons.

(By International News Service)

Heavy fighting continued to rage around the Ukrainian metropolis of Kiev today.

As German sources embellished their description of the city's fall yesterday with graphic details, the Red army high command and other official quarters spoke only of a "life and death struggle" that was said to be continuing.

Red Star, official newspaper of the Soviet army, reported that Kiev fell yesterday after strong Soviet positions on the west bank of the Dnieper had been pierced. Nazi troops marched into Russia's third city virtually unopposed, it was said, when Red soldiers laid down their arms after their commanders fled.

The stories from Moscow were radically different.

"Gunners at Kiev will fight the enemy until death," Red Star said. "The Germans shall pay dearly for the city. The Red army is sparing no efforts to inflict the greatest possible losses on the German hordes.

"Fully fifteen divisions, including panzers and great concentrations of aircraft, are engaged in the battle. The latest communique just received speaks of a continued life and death struggle which is especially fierce in the suburbs."

Red Star also claimed that ten divisions of crack German troops had been lost, in addition to hundreds of planes and tanks. A German division numbers between 14,000 and 18,000 men.

The German high command also announced that two islands in Riga bay had been occupied, as well as the eastern half of Oesel island in the Baltic. A battle for complete possession of this strategic island is now going on, it was said

The Far East again achieved prominence in the war picture as Japan was reported sending heavy reinforcements to garrisons in Manchukuo. Tokyo formally accused the Russians of cutting

FIRES RAGING AT NAZI BASE

RAF Bombers Leave Big Supply Base In Flames; Italian Transports Sunk.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—The RAF set fire to at least four ships in a German convoy off the Dutch coast late today, it was authoritatively reported.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Great fires were left raging in Stettin by bombers of the Royal Air Force which attacked docks, warehouses and railway yards in the important north-eastern German city, it was officially announced today.

Stettin is one of the main supply bases for German troops fighting on the eastern front.

Bombers attached to the coastal command raided objectives near Nantes during the night, it was declared.

Two British planes failed to return.

Other targets in northern Germany also were pounded by the RAF in a continuation of the virtually incessant British air assaults on the Reich and German-occupied territory.

It was understood Stettin was attacked by a relatively small force of long-distance bombers, capable of the round-trip distance of about 1,200 miles.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, national civilian defense director, last night criticized former President Herbert Hoover for his statement that the sending of American warships into dangerous waters violated representative government and the spirit of the neutrality act.

LaGuardia, addressing a rally sponsored by the committee to defend America, urged the former president to "stand up and support your president."

SCOFF REPORTS

Vichy Officials Deny French Troops Aid Germans.

VICHY, UNOCCUPIED FRANCE — (AP) — Authorized French sources today described as "fantastic" reports frequently heard in Vichy that a division and a half of regular French troops are fighting for the Germans on the Russian front.

Some sources described as "equally fantastic" other reports that Vichy has signed an agreement with the Germans to send even more troops to fight Russia.

The only French aid thus far, it was said, consists of two small contingents which left the occupied zone recently to be trained and outfitted by the Germans at Posen, in Poland

HELD IN AKRON

Toledoan Arrested In Connection With Theft of Jewelry.

AKRON—(U.P.)—A Toledo man, who had three revolvers in his possession when arrested, was held on suspicion today after Samuel Maybaum, New York jewelry salesman, reported he was robbed of a portfolio and diamond rings and diamonds in an Akron hotel.

Maybaum said three gunmen held up and robbed him on the eighth floor of the hotel last night as he stepped from an elevator. The suspect was arrested on the fourth floor. Police did not have estimates on the value of the jewelry.

Sunday N-J Pix Cover Busy Week

THIS has been one of the busiest weeks in Mansfield history and The News-Journal camera has followed Joe (Average) Mansfielder around to defense meetings, bankers sessions, the Moose convention, and the sewage engineers' conclave and has brought you a pictorial record of why a lot of folk are going to want to sleep late tomorrow.

That pictorial record will be waiting for them and for you, at whatever hour you get up, in the Sunday edition.

A "For Sale" sign went up on one of the city's oldest church buildings recently. Tied up with the venerable structure is a great deal of interesting religious and community history which comes to you in an illustrated feature tomorrow.

More history, but with some surprising and novel twists, forms the basis of two other Sunday stories:

A lake that formed over night . . . and frightened residents of the county who felt the earth tremble and thought the world was coming to an end.

"Johnny Appleseed" . . . a legendary character who turns out to have been a shrewd businessman. And pictures of two trees, still living, which he planted decades ago.

Continuing in the Sunday edition are the two informative series on Mansfield's expert male cooks and introductions to new city residents. Timely editorials, up-to-the-minute sports news and pictures, society news and women's features, cross quiz puzzle, colored comics, and an entertaining short story about a young man afraid of his own chivalry complete the starting line-up.

And most important of all, the Sunday edition gives you last-minute scores in the nation's defense effort and in the war abroad.

OPS Warned of Prosecution If It Pulls Switches at Newark

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Ohio Public Service company of Cleveland faces possible prosecution under the anti-sabotage act if it fulfills a threat to pull switches connecting it with the Ohio Power company at Newark, O., the federal power commission warned today.

Ohio Public Service recently advised the commission it intended to disconnect at midnight tonight all transmission lines which are tied in with those of Ohio Power under a contract dated Jan. 1, 1936

Such a disconnection, the federal commission asserted, "may cause serious disruption of electrical service to essential national defense industries both in Ohio and in several adjoining states." The commission directed the company's attention to the anti-sabotage act of Nov. 30, 1940, saying the law provides fine and imprisonment for injuring or destroying national defense or "national defense utilities."

The company replied that "there is not the slightest desire or intent on our part to interfere with national defense and we are convinced that our discontinuance of the purchase of this power will in no way affect national defense because we have just put into operation a new

GEN. JOHNSON: Meet 'Blitz With Blitz' to Beat Tanks

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — It is not as spectacular as some of the other hearings and discussions in Washington—such as the tax bill with its "economy" clause or the appropriation of more billions for lease-lend and national defense — but nothing is of more importance to you and me, just a couple of ordinary guys, than the hearings before the house banking and currency committee on the price control bill.

Johnson

As B. M. Baruch testified, the bill is bad because it exempts farm products up to 110 per cent of "parity," because it exempts wage control altogether and above all because it does not attempt to control all prices and does not tie up price control with the other necessary war controls — priorities, commandeering, conservation, substitution and increased production.

One without all, operating together, is sure to fail. All the rest, even if operating together, without some of the others—especially price control and priorities—can't possibly do the ojb.

The bill presents all these faults. I have read every one of the thousands of pages of the testimony especially that of Leon Henderson, the principal witness for the bill. His presentation of the necessity for price control was carefully documented with the figures indicating the certain approach of inflation, the experience of this and all other countries, in this war and the last, and the necessity of price control as the only escape. The showing was overwhelming and so far as I can see unanswerable.

Still Henderson supported the bill with all its fatal faults. That port of his testimony wasn't so convincing. On the question of 110 per cent of parity as the lowest allowable ceiling over farm prices, there were indications that he had not written that part of the bill and he did not support it. He simply referred the question to the chairman of the committee, Mr. Steagall, who apparently had inserted it.

All of his documentary evidence and most of his oral testimony showed that you cannot prevent inflation or have price control without wage control. When cross-examined about the consistency of this part of his testimony with the bill itself, he said that he had been assigned by the president to the subject of prices, that Sidney Hillman had been given the subject of labor and that it was not up to him to invade his associate's bailiwick.

That is very commendable organizational loyalty but it completely evades a vital question and leaves the bill vulnerable to a deadly attack. It may be and probably is true that the administration of prices and of wage stabilization should be in different hands but both should be part of the same body and guided by a single brain. If they don't move in step and to a single purpose there is no hope in this effort.

As to where failure to act quickly to control prices now will hit the man in the street, Baruch testified: "Many members of congress, worried over the size of government expenditures, have been urging economies in non-defense expenditures. I say to them that no action could effect greater savings in the cost of government than to prevent inflation. Billions—20 per cent or more of all appropriations can be saved. There is no better form of economy than price control."

He pointed out that price inflation would hit the pocket books of rich and poor alike with insupportable shocks—perhaps up to 50 per cent of income — especially unbearable to the poor, to white collar people and social security beneficiaries.

I know of no answer to these arguments. This bill simply must be passed in acceptable form in the interest of us all. Another attempt to delay or hurt it is a collateral attack on Henderson as being unfit to administer it. This column can only repeat what it has said before. After a long and intimate experience with Henderson and at least some knowledge of government and what goes on in Washington he is I think, in every way fit and far better equipped for this job than any man I know in America.

KNOCK ON HEAD SEEN DUE FOR HOME-BUILDING

Defense Officials Predict Sharp Curtailment Under Priorities Program.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Defensive officials today predicted sharp curtailment of ordinary residential building as a result of the decision of the office of production management to give privately-financed defense housing first call on material.

"To put it bluntly," one official said, "the main effect of the priorities on building materials will be to knock ordinary residential construction in the head."

Under the program, to be administered by Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson, builders of privately-financed homes for defense workers in specified defense areas will be able to apply for priority ratings to insure delivery of scarce building materials. These include structural steel, iron, nails, bolts, electrical fixtures, heating and refrigerating equipment and pipes.

"The effect of the priorities system in this case will be to give defense housing a mortgage on available materials," an official explained:

He said that it was necessary to give defense housing contractors priority assistance because they found themselves competing with ordinary home builders in efforts to obtain materials. The latter, in many cases, were able to get their needs because they were willing to pay higher prices.

Establishment of the priorities system was expected to make it increasingly difficult for other builders to obtain construction loans. They are having trouble enough now, it was said, because lending institutions are demanding positive assurance that applicants can get the materials necessary.

While Nelson set a ceiling of $6,000 as the cost for any family dwelling unit qualifying for priority rating, officials said they expected that most of the homes involved — an estimated 200,000, all privately financed—will be in the $3,000 to $4,000 category.

Confidence men and pickpockets flourish in convention cities and Mansfield this week was certainly a convention city. Godfrey Trampanau, Cleveland, reported to police last night that he had been relieved of his wallet containing $22 yesterday in the Union bus station. Trampanau said that he and his wife were walking toward the station's exit when a middle-aged man entering, jostled him, knocking his glasses off. As he stooped to recover the glasses another man pushed in from the rear, separating him from his wife. Outside of the station, Trampanau found his wallet missing. Police are seeking the two men Trampanau described to them.

Mansfielders are getting in the habit of looking upward for their entertainment. Thursday night it was the Aurora Borealis and yesterday sky-writing. Cecil Coffrin, veteran sky-writer, wrote the name of a soft drink firm across the sky above the city yesterday afternoon and is scheduled to repeat his performance today, atmospheric conditions permitting. The name, "Pepsi-Cola," was written in a ten-mile long message, requiring 250,000 cubic feet of smoke per second.

MOBILE FORCE AND AIRPLANES DEFEAT UNITS

'Blue' Army Defense Routs Attacking 'Reds' In New Maneuver.

(By United Press)

WITH THE BLUE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA — The first phase of the general headquarters war games proved today that mobile anti-tank ground forces with closely cooperating combat aviation can rout a tank attack.

The Blue army's defense action was so powerful and forbidding that the Red army was overwhelmed and an armistice was called late yesterday. The troops will rest this week-end and begin another problem probably next Tuesday.

The high command here believes it "has something" in Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's plan to "meet blitz with blitz."

It successfully fought a previously untried "defensive offense" and carried out Krueger's doctrine of "simplicity in strategical conception, perfection in technique and firmness in execution."

Rolling forward with the Blue army columns during the past four days gave the same infectious feeling of confidence that one cannot help but feel when moving cross-country with German columns behind the front in Europe.

The maneuver ended with a victory and defeat such as has never before been registered in the history of United States army field practice.

The high command, for the first time, called it "victory" and "defeat" instead of the usual "resolution of a problem." This is unprecedented and indicates that the high command realizes the psychological as well as practical value of demonstrating that tanks can be whipped.

In the final day of this phase of the maneuvers, the Blue forces were busy mopping up, pinching off Red salients and capturing hundreds of Red troops. They captured an entire regiment at one point and an entire battalion at another.

The captures indicated that the morale of the attacking, armored Red army had suffered under the pounding of the Blues and that the extreme fatigue of the harassed Reds induced a willingness to surrender.

Before the end came, the Blue air force reported that all roads leading north from the front were jammed with Red troops, heavy artillery and supply trains—indicating a complete rout.

You Meet Interesting People.

(And it's the Little Thinks That Fascinate You!)

ALL the important stars pretend to be uncommonly sweet and generous to lesser players, but the truth is that most of the big names you see in lights would commit mayhem rather than permit a supporting player to get more than the usual number of close-ups or to—heaven forbid!—steal a scene.

The exception to this rule who comes strongly to mind is Bette Davis. Her sportsmanship and generosity came close to making Jane Bryan a star before the talented young actress left pictures to marry; she gave Mary Astor all the screen space she needed to make a brilliant comeback in "The Great Lie," and she allowed Geraldine Fitzgerald to establish herself asa fine emotional actress in "Dark Victory." If you think that there are many stars, male or female, who'd do the same, you're only kidding.

Only ballet dancing cat I know is one called Moura, a Persian, which belongs to Tamara Toumanova, the ballerina. He travels everywhere with her, and even performs in one of her ballets . . . Bud (Abbott and Costello) Abbott, who has just created a fund for stranded sailors, did so out of an experience in his own past. When he was 17 he was seized by three men and shanghaied aboard a tramp steamer bound for Norway. Three years passed before he could save enough money to buy his passage back to America. Since then he's always had an unusual sympathy toward sailors stranded in strange ports, and now that he's in the money they were the first ones he helped . . . SENDS MEN BACK TO MINE JOBS

Lewis Orders Skeleton Crews to Work in 'Captive' Mines.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers (CIO) today ordered skeleton crews to return to their jobs in "captive" mines in three states to prepare for full resumption of operations on Monday.

Lewis notified all district presidents representing the 43,000 soft coal miners, who struck last Monday in an effort to secure a union shop, to furnish "any men" needed for preliminary work at the mines.

The back-to-work agreement was worked out yesterday by the defense mediation board after three days of negotiations.

U. S. CITIZENS LEAVE TAHITI

Quit Pacific Island as Result Of Factional Strife Among Free French Cliques.

(By United Press)

HONOLULU — Americans are evacuating the South Pacific island of Tahiti because inter-factional disputes have broken out between two cliques of the Free French movement of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, it was learned here today.

Charles Borden, a long-time resident of Tahiti, who arrived here today with his wife said that almost all the 42 Americans remaining on the island were attempting to arrange passage to Hawaii or the United States.

He said a large number of Frenchmen have been arrested recently on order of the Free French governor. It was reported on the island, he said, that a Free French high commissioner was en route to the island by destroyer to investigate the troubles and conduct the trials of those held.

(The Free French destroyer Triomphant, reportedly carrying a high commissioner, sailed for Tahiti from Honolulu four days ago.)

Borden, who sailed from Tahiti to Hilo this week aboard his 90-foot schooner, said that the Americans on the island were having difficulty securing passage home.

Six American yachts are carrying citizens who have purchased passage, he said, but no visas are being granted now to American vessels to cruise in French oceania and the islands have been closed to visitors.

HAS THEORY

Nye Thinks it Would Have Been Purely Nazi-Russian War—If.

DAYTON—(INS)—Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R-North Dakota) today advanced the theory that "if the United States had hewn to the line and stayed by strict laws of neutrality, the war today would not be between Great Britain and Germany but would be only a war between Russia and Germany."

The senate isolationist leader told 2,500 persons at an "America First" meeting that he was "very much afraid" that future revelations will show that this nation made promises of active aid to England and France.

CHILD SHOOTS PLAYMATE WHILE QUARRELING OVER 'FUNNY BOOK'

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Nine year old David Henry Antolini, who was shot in the stomach by his schoolmate Barbara Ortega during a children's quarrel over "funny books," died today at San Francisco hospital.

Barbara, also 9 years old, shot David with a shotgun she could barely lift.

The tragedy occurred late yesterday afternoon after they left their fourth grade classroom at Bret Harte school.

David and four other boys came to Barbara's house and asked for some "funny books" of the kind Barbara had given one of them the day before. Barbara gave a book to one of the boys. They asked for more and followed her into the house.

Barbara became angered at this and said:

"Get out. My daddy has got two guns and if you don't get out, I'll shoot."

Barbara went to closet and got her father's double barreled shotgun. She aimed it at David, who was nearest. The gun roared and David fell to the floor, 150 bird shot perforations in his intestines.

The other boys ran. Later Barbara told police:

"I didn't think the gun was loaded. I just wanted to scare him."

Barbara's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ortega, both are employed by a canning plant. The girl was placed under the care of a juvenile probation officer.

RECEIVE FUNDS

Mansfield, Shelby and County Given Relief Money.

The state today allocated a total of $3,185 in relief funds to Richland county, Mansfield, and Shelby which showed a decrease in relief costs for August despite a general increase throughout the state.

Richland county received $1,629; Mansfield, $1,324, and Shelby, $232. The state allocations represent half of the total relief expenditures for last month. The local districts must make up the difference.

Total expenditures in the Richland county and Mansfield areas in August were $5,910, or $260 less than the July costs.

In the state generally, expenses for August increased $6,948 over July. Total relief bill for August was $1,157,842.

SHIP RELEASED FROM SHANGHAI

Jap-Controlled Customs Free U. S. Vessel After Detention.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—The Japanese-controlled customs here have released the American ship Zoella Lykes after three days of negotiations with United States officials, it was learned today.

The ship was scheduled to sail this afternoon for Manila with 2,000 barrels of high grade lubricating oil.

The customs officials had held the Zoella Lykes because of the oil consigned to Manila. They charged it was not declared, although 9,000 barrels of oil were unloaded at Shanghai for a Japanese firm.

Two Jilted Lovers Dive Autos Into Concrete Walls

NEWARK, N. J. — (INS) — Unhappy love affairs today were the reasons ascribed for the suicide attempts by two men who drove their high speeding automobiles into concrete walls. One man was killed and the second was in critical condition in a hospital.

Adam Stevens, 29, after a quarrel with his girl friend, drove his car at 80 miles an hour into a concrete loading platform and was fatally injured.

Bennet Patterson, 32, of Elizabeth, chatted with his estranged wife, Dorothy, 33, in Weequahic park, Newark, in an effort to get her to return to him. When she refused, he jumped into his machine and drove at high speed into a wall of a stadium. He was rushed to a hospital with a broken neck, crushed ribs and severe cuts.

SETTLE STRIKE

Plasterers Expected to Return To Jobs at Canton.

CANTON—(AP)—A dispute which led to a "work stoppage" of AFL plasterers on the government's 300-unit defense housing project here was believed settled today.

Congresman William R. Thom of Canton, said last night he had received a telegram from his secretary, Robert S. Hatch, saying that Hatch had arranged for Business Agent James R. McComas to meet in Washington with Neal A. Melock, supervising engineer of the public works administration, and that a settlement was reported to have been reached.

'DEATH BATTLE' RAGES AROUND UKRAINE CITY

Russians Claim Gunners Make Nazis Pay Dearly For Kiev Capture.

Meanwhile, Mme. Constantin Smetanin, wife of the Soviet ambassador to Japan, left Tokyo for Siberia, along with 50 other Soviet consular officials. The numerical strength of the Soviet embassy in Tokyo has been long regarded as indicative of the temperature of Soviet-Japanese relations.

Lord Beaverbrook, head of the British mission to the Soviet, was reported "on the way" to Moscow for the joint Anglo-Soviet-American conference scheduled to be held in that city.

Latest advices to Berlin from the Ukraine battle area indicated Nazi forces now are pushing toward Kharkov and the Donets basin.

Moscow stated that while flaming warfare raged on the Kiev front, a new German attempt to raid Moscow during the night resulted in only slight damage to the Russian capital.

Russian authorities declared the German armies on the Kiev front were piling up "enormous losses." An official Soviet spokesman described the Russian military situation at the Black sea port of Odessa as "considerably improved."

Berlin said Luftwaffe bombers sank a 10,000-ton merchant ship and a 7,000-ton tanker in a convoy off the British east coast.

Report Reds Fail to Break from 'Ring'

LONDON—(AP)—A German radio broadcast today said Russian troops encircled east of Kiev had attempted to break out of the German ring last night but had been repulsed by concentrated Nazi fire.

Another announcement claimed capture of a small town east of Kiev yesterday by German panzer forces.

Soviet troops suffered heavy losses in men and material in hard fighting preceding the entry into Kiev.

Several thousand Russians were killed or taken prisoner, it said, and large amounts of war material and 10 armored trains, were seized or put out of action.

At another point on the same front, mobile German units were said to have taken several thousand more prisoners, captured nine Soviet planes and shot down another.

Germans Announce Sea Victories

BERLIN —(INS)— Heavy new German bombing attacks which damaged a Soviet battleship east of Leningrad and scored new victories in the Black sea were announced by the high command today.

A military communique which told of the damage to the Russian battleship added that German bombers attacked Soviet naval units in the Black sea, seriously damaging a Soviet anti-aircraft cruiser, a smaller warship and three merchant vessels totaling 10,000 tons.

German troops are in complete possession of the islands of Worms and Moon in Riga bay, and have captured the eastern part of Oesel island in the Baltic, it was announced.

The high command declared that a fierce battle for complete possession of the latter island is now underway.

Deny Report Red Fleet Interned

STOCKHOLM —(INS)— Swedish authorities, the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today, have denied rumors that the Russian Baltic fleet has arrived in Swedish waters and been interned.

The reports said that from 27 to 39 Soviet ships had been surrendered to Swedish authorities at Sandhamn, off the Stockholm archipelago.

Moose Officialdom At Mansfield Convention

British Mission Speeds to Moscow

LONDON—(U.P.)—Great Britain's aid mission to Russia was believed to be speeding toward Moscow today and members of the American mission were expected to leave at any time to promise Russia full aid in its stubborn fight against the steel clad German armies which had driven through the Ukraine and threatened Leningrad.

Authoritative informants admitted that they believed at least 200,000 Russians were enclosed in a German pocket east of Kiev. They said they could not confirm German claims that the great pocket had been closed but said that there was "probably some truth" in them.

Would Limit Profit On Defense Orders

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—Revelation of skyrocketing profits on many war orders has led house naval affairs committee aides to draft legislation which would impose a seven per cent ceiling on all defense contract profits, it was learned today.

Informed sources said the bill will be submitted to Committee Chairman Carl Vinson, (D., Ga.) together with a "justifying" report based on the committee's investigation of progress of defense production, particularly naval.

Committee accountants, who have combed thousands of questionnaires returned by naval contractors, are said to have concluded that profits in many cases are far beyond reasonable limits. Their findings will be made public as soon as the committee resumes hearings.

Rep. Melvin J. Maas, (R., Minn.) ranking minority committee member, said he subscribed fully to establishing some sort of ceiling on defense profits. But he opposed a return to the now-abandoned Vinson-Trammel act formula which limited shipbuilding profits, through a complex computation system, to eight per cent.

150 Plane Pilots In Mansfield Area Asked To Enlist

members can be classified as to ability and experience.

Letters and application blanks will go to all Ohio airport managers, Johnson said. Every licensed pilot, mechanic and radio operator in the state will also receive instructions on where and how to make application.

Harrington said that although registration will start Monday that he did not believe it could be completed for at least two or three weeks.

Johnson emphasized that every person qualified to make an application will be expected to do so. Ownership of a plane is not required for joining the defense wing.

Each squadron will elect its officers and all wing members will wear identification badges, Johnson said. As a protective measure, all enlistees will be photographed and fingerprinted.

THIS TEACHER JUST CROCHETS

DEVON—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Byerley, teacher at Centerville school, spends all her time crocheting but there aren't any complaints.

There aren't any pupils, either.

The board hired Mrs. Byerley last year but nobody showed up when she opened the schoolhouse this fall. School laws require her to report every day for three months. Then if there are no pupils the school will be closed.

Church to Have Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for both services at the First Church of God tomorrow, will be Irene C. Smith of Anderson, Indiana, secretary of the Board of Christian education.

A new junior department in the Sunday school is being organized by the church for children aged 12 to 14. Donations of playthings, phonograph and religious books will be accepted by Superintendent Karl Ernsberger.

Plans for Fall Program of Churches

Central Methodist church will plan its fall program at 7:30 p. m. when workers from every department will form departmental plans for the fall.

Following this will be the formation of a three months program which will adhere to the church loyalty program handed down from the General Conference.

Program Arranged For St. Paul's Church

"The Man Who Followed" will be the subject taken up at the 10 a. m. morning worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran church tomorrow by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor.

During the Sunday school hour at 9 a. m. Mrs. Russell Hawk will speak before the adult school on "A Century In India."

Convening for a devotional program and a review of fall activities, the Lutheranites will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Don Hipp will preside over the business session, while Virginia Moore will lead the study program.

SCHOOLS GET REQUEST

CLEVELAND -- (INS) -- Case School of Applied Science today was richer by $100,000, bequeathed to the trustees under terms of the will of the late Mrs. Nellie R. Collister, widow of a hardware dealer.

PASTORS WORK ON COMMUNION SUNDAY PLANS

Mansfield Ministerial Group Joins In Observance With Program For Oct. 15.

Joining with other churches throughout the world, the Mansfield Ministerial association is planning a local observance of a world-wide Communion Sunday, Oct. 5.

From an idea sponsored first by the Presbyterian church in America, the plan has reached world-wide proportions. Nearly all American denominations, with their missionaries and mission stations, are cooperating with the federal council of churches in the observance of this day.

Rev. Roland L. Showalter, secretary of the Mansfield Ministerial association, pointed out, however, that Union Communion services are not contemplated. The main purpose of the day is to secure the presence of every member of each congregation at the communion rail.

Services Listed For First Lutheran

That the spiritual way is the only way out of our difficulties; that those who uphold the Kingdom of God and the Church are our best patriots; and that the freedom of man comes from the Kingdom of God; are the expressions which Rev. G. E. Swoyer will enlarge upon tomorrow when he speaks on "Seek God's Kingdom First" in his sermon at the First Lutheran church at 9:45 a. m.

Included in the morning worship will be an anthem "Babylon" sung by the choir, and a solo by Horace Barden.

At vesper services at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Milton C. Johnson, assistant pastor, will deal in his sermon with those who go through life without a purpose, and those whose purposes have been crushed by the impact of life, comparing purposeless lives with designless buildings.

"Unfinished Structures" will be his sermon topic built on this theme.

Luther Leagues meet at 7:30 p. m. Sunday; the First district will meet at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Parish house; and the Sixth district will meet at noon Thursday in the Parish house for a covered-dish and birthday dinner.

'Matter' to Be Sermon Subject

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The golden text is: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world." (1 John 2:15).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you; they make you vain; they speak a vision of their own heart and not out of the mouth of the Lord" (Jeremiah 23:16:).

Pastor to Talk on Character Building

Dealing with the interrelating parts the church and home should have in character building, Rev. C. A. Portz will discuss the topic, "What Should Young People Expect From the Home and the Church" tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in St. Mark's Lutheran church. "Ye That Stand In the House of The Lord" will be the anthem by the choir.

Rev. Portz and C. F. Fighter will attend the Central conference of the Synod of Ohio on Thursday and Friday at Shelby.

Church Groups to Meet at Lexington

The Pilgrim fellowship of the Central North Association of Congregational churches will hold its initial bi-monthly session in the First Congregational church of Lexington at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

With 100 delegates expected from surrounding churches, three group seminars will be held in charge of Rev. Peter Young and Delia Evans, of Mansfield, and Rev. Minor M. Gressley, Bellevue.

Following the seminars, a candlelight communion service and a fellowship supper will close the meeting.

Talks on 'Certainties For Uncertain Days'

At the First Presbyterian church, Rev. D. N. Roller, pastor, will tell of the "Certainties For Uncertain Days," tomorrow at 10:45 a. m.

The anthem "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" by Ipolitiv Ivanov will be sung by the senior choir, and Paul Watts will sing the offertory "Awake, Soul of Mine" by Hemery.

Mabel Zehner, organist, will play a short recital of familiar classics, concluding with "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by J. S. Bach.

'Marks of Christian,' Subject of Sermon

Rev. Albert L. Linder will discuss "Three Marks of a Christian" tomorrow at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Beginning with Tschaikowsky's "Chanson Triste" as the prelude, Lawrence S. Frank, organist, will play "Consolation" by J. W. Thompson during the offertory, and Handel's "Minuet in D" for the postlude.

Special music includes a duet, "The Good Shepherd" by Barbi, sung by Mrs. Wayne Williams and Evangeline Williams; and the anthem "All Glory, Laud, and Honor" by Teschner-Bach, sung by the choir.

Weekly activities include the following: 4:30 p. m. Sunday, Young Adult class picnic at Middle park. At 7:30 p. m. Tuesday the Earnest Workers class will meet at the home of Mrs. A. O. Widders, 120 Poplar street. Junior choir at 3:45 p. m. Wednesday. Circle No. 1 will meet at 1:30 p. m. Thursday with Mrs. Sherman Skaggs, 283 Park avenue west; Prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m. Circle No. 2 meets at 1:30 p. m. Friday with Mrs. Charles Abele, 207 Vennum avenue; Senior choir at 7:30 p. m.

Guest Pastor at Nazarene Church

The Church of the Nazarene, will have Rev. Charles Snyder, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Ravenna as guest pastor for anniversary services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

LUTHERANS TO HOLD MEETING IN SHELBY SOON

Mansfield Ministers, Laymen To Take Part In Central Synod Conference.

Mansfield's Lutheran ministers and laymen will have an active part in the 21st annual convention of the central conference of the Lutheran Synod of Ohio Thursday and Friday at Shelby.

Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's church in Mansfield, will speak Thursday afternoon to the convention on "The Situation of the Ministry in the United Lutheran Church Today."

On Friday morning Rev. C. S. Portz, pastor of St. Mark's church, Mansfield, will present findings on "The Consolidation of Church Periodicals."

The business portion of the convention will include election of a president, secretary, and treasurer, and clerical and lay delegates to the convention in Louisville, Ky., next year.

First Methodist Services Listed

"The Church, In the American Way," is Rev. E. G. Corwin's sermon topic at the First Methodist church tomorrow morning.

Special music includes "Oh Love the Lord," Ashford, sung by the choir; a solo, "Come Ye Blessed." Scott, sung by Mrs. Charles Duckwald. Mrs. Elsie Ireland at the organ will play "Contemplation" by Wheeldon, and "Fantasie Caprice" by Delft.

Dr. Louis C. Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace college, will be the guest speaker at the 7:30 p. m. service.

A Spiritual Crusade, a two-week meeting ending in Rally Day, Oct. 5, will get under way Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. The first week is called Lay-Leadership week, and the second A Preaching Mission.

Services will be held every evening.

Sermon, Musical Program Planned

Tomorrow's sermon topic at the First Congregational church will be "God's Finger On the Scale," discussed by Rev. Peter Young at 10:45 a. m.

The musical portion of the program will include the anthem "Psalm 150" by Franck, sung by the choir; "Infinite Love" by Bohm, sung by Mrs. Thurza Hazeltine; and two organ numbers, Thompson's "Through The Valley of The Shadow," and Volckmar's "Postlude In B" played by Mrs. Fred Lewis.

A group of the young people will attend a meeting of the Central North Association fellowship at Lexington at Sunday afternoon and evening.

Young People to Join In Service

Grace Episcopal church's young people will join in a corporate Holy communion service in the chapel tomorrow at 8 a. m. Breakfast will be served immediately after the service in the undercroft.

Other services tomorrow are church school at 9:15 a. m., morning prayer and sermon by the Rev. Glenn F. Lewis at 10:45 a. m., and Kappa Beta Kappa, young people's group at 6 p. m.

At Kappa Beta Kappa the reports of the delegates to the Gambier summer conference will be given. Darrell Nichols, jr., is in charge of the meeting.

The Council of Grace Episcopal church women will hold its initial fall meeting at 2 p. m. Thursday, followed by a tea at the church.

Choir rehearsals will be 4 p. m. Thursday, and 7 p. m. Saturday.

'Power to Endure', Topic of Sermon

Resuming the regular fall schedule at the First Christian church tomorrow morning with Bible school at 9:15, and Communion and worship service at 10:30 a. m., Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor, will speak on "The Power To Endure."

"Andante Pastorale" by Richmond, "Reverie" by Gaynor, and "Grand Chorus" by DuBois, will be featured on the organ by Mrs. H. H. Clingan. The choir will sing "Seek Ye the Lord" by Roberts.

The United Societies of Women will hold a quarterly meeting and a covered-dish dinner at 12 M. Thursday, when reports and a program will be given.

St. Matthew's Church Services

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, will speak on the subject "I Thank God I Am Not As Other Men," tomorrow morning.

The choir will sing "Rest In the Lord" by Burdett, and Doris Bush will sing the offertory solo, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" by O'Hara.

On Friday evening, the annual congregational meeting and social will be held at the church with a covered-dish dinner following.

Honor Pastor on 7th Anniversary

Last week marked the beginning of Rev. Iva L. Wallick's seventh year at the Foursquare church in Mansfield. The women of the church and the Crusaders, a young people's group, held an informal party for her in the parsonage, after the morning service.

ICELAND PATROL: 5

Floating Base Keeps Navy Bombers Flying

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
(AP Feature Service Writer)

ABOARD U. S. NAVY PATROL BOMBER OVER THE ATLANTIC—White caps are pretty from the air, but they're just plain brutal when you land in them in the North Atlantic at this time of year.

It's risky for the plane, the crew and the boatmen who take their lives in their hands to come out and get us, but the navy's got a job to do and it's doing it, short of unduly risking men and material.

Today the whitecaps are unusually high. You don't know it from the air, but when you come down you bounce off a four-footer and leap many feet into the air. The darn things fall out from under you too. The shock puts accordion pleats in your spine, but somehow you emerge whole.

The floating base is always anxious during a landing—anxious for all the crews required to moor a plane safely. The crews'll be glad this winter when that $28,000,000 Argentia air base in Newfoundland is completed. Planes can be handled there with much more ease and safety.

Everybody admires these stout fellows who come out to get us. They drive their whale boats through the spray, unconcerned risk arms and legs to get you off your boat. Minor accidents are not unusual. For instance, when we took off a big roller pitched a whaleboat up against the under side of a wing, ripped a big tear in the cover.

Our floating base is ready for all that. Like the plane's armament, the technical equipment is secret, but it can be told that a tear in the wing is only a few minutes' work for the monster of the sea we call an airplane tender or floating air base. They simply hoist the craft aboard and do the work. The tender is a cool $9,000,000 worth of the machinery required to keep a 24-plane squadron flying. What she can't do for an ailing plane or an ailing seaman just can't be done anywhere.

The operating room is a surgeon's paradise. It may not be as dainty as Bellevue, but it's very bit as sanitary and effective. Dentists, barbers—every kind of service a sailor can get ashore he can get there.

And when a plane is hoisted aboard for attention they work about as fast as your small son with a toy plane. The ship's rolled into a giant hangar, where the mecks prescribe for her ills. If the motor's not working right they pull the thing out, put in another one quicker than you'd dream it's possible.

The emergency equipment is almost unbelievable. If fog closes in on a patrol, and they can't see to land, boats put out to clear water, give them a landing beam and bring 'em in right side up.

As we descend with benefit of sun from our ten-hour flight toward Iceland, our floating air base, anchored "somewhere in the North Atlantic off the American shore," looks like the old homestead.

Now the boat puts out from the tender, then another. We aren't the only patrol in this man's ocean, it seems. The boat shoots up mountains of spray, and it's a leap for life like in the old movie serials to get aboard. But the trick's done, and in a few minutes we're alongside the tender.

After our shower and a change of clothes, we go after that dinner we've been wanting ever since lunch. But it's no harum scarum affair—dinner aboard a floating naval city's wardroom. The officers are required to wear ordinary dress uniforms, with coats. They gather around, discuss the movie of tonight, the day's work. Banter is light-hearted, keen.

All this is another shock to an outlander. Down from a long patrol over ocean wastes to a drawing room conversation with remarkably courteous gentlemen is a pretty big adjustment, but it's everyday business for these fellows.

Tomorrow some of them are going to get up at an odd hour as we did today. They'll trek up to the operations officer's cabin for a conference. He'll sit at his desk, give them last minute orders.

They'll nod, pick up their gear, and leap aboard a bobbing boat for another foray into the Atlantic, just like driving to the office. The navy does things that way.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1941

Drive carefully tomorrow—and, by the way, did you get your new driver's license?

Charles Lindbergh will probably have a place in history—but let's hope it won't be alongside that of Benedict Arnold.

To the magazine question, "What should be done with Hitler after the war," a reader replies, "The same thing that should have been done with him before the war."

Hand Signals Made Mandatory

A PROVISION of Ohio's new traffic code to which little attention has thus far been given is that which makes hand signals mandatory when a motorist intends to stop or make a turn.

While a majority of motorists have probably noticed that hand signals are in common use elsewhere the practice has not yet been adopted in the Mansfield area, or anywhere in Ohio, except possibly in a few of the larger cities.

The law on this subject makes three hand signals mandatory, unless the car is equipped with automatic signal devices. The three signals are: Before making left turn extend arm horizontally (straight out); for right turn, hand and arm extended upward; if intending to stop, extend hand and arm downward.

Compliance with these requirements, by motorists who can read, will encourage others to do likewise—thus reducing the number of accidents caused by failure of drivers to indicate intention to stop or turn.

Example In Careless Selection

A JURY in Akron has decided that Albert B. Lukens, 58, shall be confined in the penitentiary for life instead of being executed for the murder of Ruth Zwicker, 23-year-old music teacher.

That will be all right—if it is assured that Lukens will actually be kept in confinement during the remainder of his life, instead of being released through pardon or parole—as happened once when he was sentenced to the Ohio state reformatory after pleading guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of a young woman.

With such a criminal record in his background it is difficult to understand how Lukens should have been chosen for the position of church custodian and thus given opportunity for the attack he made on the young woman who innocently went to the church for piano practice, assuming safety in such surroundings.

Whatever may have been the circumstances in connection with the attack which resulted in death, Lukens freely admitted burning the body in the church furnace.

It would appear that the humanitarian urge to give criminals "another chance" should not carry to the extent of removing all surveillance after placing an ex-convict in position to commit a crime similar to that for which he had shown earlier uncontrollable weakness.

When the science of criminology is further advanced, and when civilization has reached a somewhat higher stage, ways will be found to permanently segregate, or render harmless, the Lukens type of recidivists instead of leaving the way open for such atrocities as that which occurred in Akron.

Good Showing In Opening Game

MANSFIELD HIGH SCHOOL'S football team got off to a good start last night with a 40-0 victory over Akron West, and approximately 4,000 fans and Tyger boosters were not disappointed in their earlier belief that a good season is ahead for Mansfield High.

Performance of the high school band between halves also indicated that musicians will keep pace with the football players in gaining favorable recognition for Mansfield during the 1941 season.

With ideal weather for the opening game, the large crowd was efficiently handled by the corps of school teachers and Boy Scouts who acted as ushers. Altogether it was a very pleasing way in which to lift the gridiron lid.

Tremendous Energy Harnessed

THE NATION, at first rather doubtful about the development of such a vast power project as the Grand Coulee Dam in a region that seemed almost a wilderness, has taken keener interest in it as the works grew and the need of manufacturing power increased. Present requirements call for all the industrial energy that can possibly be produced. So there is natural satisfaction in hailing the installation of the world's largest water-wheel generator, the first of 18 such units, which together will make the Grand Coulee the greatest source of electric power on earth.

This initial unit itself has 30 per cent more capacity than its largest predecessor. Alone it could light 1,500,000 sixty-watt lamps. Joining the Bonneville power system, it will supply energy to many important manufacturing plants in Oregon and Washington. This first unit could supply all the electrical needs of a city of more than 200,000 people.

Did you ever go into one of those hydro-electric power houses and stand amazed at the quietness of the huge, whirling dynamos? At the Tennessee dams, for instance. There is only a low hum. Great power is usually silent.

Laurel Root for Pipes

THE EUROPEAN WAR may be hard on southern laurel, which grows so luxuriantly in the forested hills of eastern Tennessee and North Carolina and delights northern visitors. The roots are being used now in substitution for European brier roots. "French brier" for pipes was cut off by the war, and with the growing popularity of pipe-smoking something had to be done about it. Laurel is said to serve the purpose.

The laurel seems to run mostly to roots, which are said to weigh from a couple of pounds up to 800, and the diggers get about half a cent a pound for them. The new source of supply, which eliminates tariff charges, may result in cheaper pipes. It may take a while, though, to convince old-fashioned smokers that the laurel is as good as brier.

A motorists' association warns that a hitchhiker may be a desperate felon—and a felon is always unpleasant when associated with a thumb.

Word comes that CCC boys have cleared away miles of gooseberry bushes—having heard that such things spread gooseberries.

It still isn't news if a dog bites a man—but when a dog bites Bette Davis' nose that's quite another matter.

Tucker Takes Look Around

—By GEORGE TUCKER

MIAMI—Miami Beach is so much like Broadway that one scarcely could tell the difference except for the warm weather and the palm trees waving in the sub-tropical trades.... You lean against a telephone pole and everybody you ever saw on Broadway comes by.... That's fine, if you like Broadway, but if I ever wanted to get away from it all I certainly wouldn't choose Miami Beach. Life here is like stretching out in Macy's window for a suntan.

For instance, I walked into the lobby of the Dempsey-Vanderbilt and found myself facing a thin, familiar fellow who seemed happy but needed a haircut.... It was Roscoe Ates, who made a lot of money through his ability to stutter in the movies.... Roscoe was in fine fettle.... He was leaving by plane that afternoon for Detroit.... "Wife's leaving with the car for California," he told me.... "I'm playing a week in Detroit."... Roscoe had been making personal appearances in the deep south and the midwest.... When they go on the road, somehow, they always turn up at Miami.

* * *

A FEW moments later Jack Mercer came in.... Jack is the "voice" of most of the characters in these animated cartoon movies you see.... In "Mr. Bug Goes to Town," Dave Fleischer's newest production nearing its release date, he is Swat, the Fly.... You say Swat, like you say Harry the Horse....

Mercer is also the voice of Popeye.... I said, "Jack, you married?"... "Sure," he told me, "I'm married to Olive Oyl."... Olive is Popeye's sweetheart.... Not long ago Jack was in New York on the "We The People" program.... He is a Worthington, Indiana, product, a refugee from vaudeville, and he is himself an artist. Other voice that Jack has created include Poopdeck Pappy, and Spunky, the donkey.

Later I ran into Ray Redmond and he said, "I just got back from New York and Detroit.... Been on vacation.... Tell Carl Erbe hello for me when you get back."... Carl is a familiar figure in Miami.... He is Ben Marden's right hand man.... He is part owner in some of the Miami clubs.... In New York he handles the Riviera for Marden.... It was Carl who wanted to take me along the inland water route from New York to Miami on his boat.... I was unable to make it, and the boat came to pieces under Carl, and sank.... Later, he was awarded a medal for swimming around for about five hours in the ocean and saving his dog.

The first free moment available I called Fred Lozier, the AP's Miami correspondent, and we got together to exchange greetings and see if we couldn't do something about the warm weather, which only a few days before had been 110 on the streets.... It was a pleasant interlude, for we have many mutual friends, and besides, he congratulated me warmly on that sailfish I caught.

Then he went on to a dinner engagement and I went back to pack and catch a plane for New York.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Sept. 20, 1921.

Baku Grotto was organized with 150 members and W. F. Voegele was chosen as monarch.

It was announced that Salvation Army barracks would be moved from South Main street to 145 North Diamond street.

Officers and directors of Mansfield Lamp and Manufacturing company held banquet at Vonhof and reported satisfactory progress.

Miss Hazel Lapham and Lawrence Shick were married by Rev. Foster C. Anderson.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Sept. 20, 1936.

Harry T Crouse was named court bailiff succeeding Philip Summers, deceased.

More than 200 Mansfield Legionnaires were in Cleveland attending opening of the 18th annual American Legion convention.

Miss Roberta Ink and Russell G. Snyder were married in Lexington.

Joan Linkhart celebrated 11th birthday anniversary.

Miss Evelyn Yuncker enrolled as freshman at Denison university.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The financial panic of 1873 reached a climax on this date when the New York Stock Exchange closed its doors. This was the first time in its history that such a thing had happened.

U. S. Action Unexpected By Hitler

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Adolf Hitler apparently is being deceived about what the United States will do and what it can do in this war, in almost precisely the same way as the German High Command was deceived about the same things in the winter of 1916-17.

There were two main lines of deception then. There seem to be two now. We know definitely how and why the Germans were misled in 1917 — we can only guess now, but the signs all point to the same answers.

Count Johann von Bernstorff, who was the Kaiser Wilhelm's ambassador to Washington during our period of neutrality, said to many newspaper men, including this writer, that he was not worried about the United States for two reasons. 1, the American people were not in favor of going to war with Germany—they had demonstrated it in many ways, including the re-election of Woodrow Wilson the preceding November on the "kept us out of war" issue. No. 2, if this country did become involved in the war, it would be in such a panic to arm itself that the supplies then keeping the Allies going would be cut off, or at least badly curtailed.

There was a point No. 3 as it developed, but this von Bernstorff did not mention to newspaper men. But Germany had a scheme for keeping the United States very much occupied—with Mexico—if hostilities developed.

* * *

THE comparison at present is flabbergasting, except that the order is slightly reversed.

German activities have not succeeded very well—so far at least—in Latin America. Quite the contrary. Two of the twenty Latin American republics which have always liked the United States the least, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say which have disliked the United States the most—Argentina and Mexico — have been cracking down on the Nazis.

But this time the obvious plan of Berlin was to have the United States so involved with Japan that our efforts to supply Britain would lag. There are many evidences that Nippon has read the handwriting on the wall, and does not like to sacrifice its paws for Berlin's chestnuts.

Be that as it may and pride may easily force Japan into what for her will be a foolish war, experts here do not believe that even war with Japan would appreciably affect our aid to Britain.

It might even result in releasing Russian forces now in Eastern Siberia to bolster up the Russian line in Europe.

Since the occupation of Iran, and the establishment of the Brazil-to-Africa airplane ferry route, making it possible to aid Russia by way of the Near East, especially if the Germans elect to go through Turkey, this has become even less important from the Berlin point of view.

But, reverting to points one and two, the German High Command probably has been given a very accurate picture of American difficulties, particularly the opposition of such a large fraction of our public to a shooting war. However it would not be at all surprising if Berlin has been deceived as to what this really means, just as it was twenty four years ago. It would not be surprising because that is what most of the people in this country seem to think.

The Greer episode, and the events which followed, OUGHT to wake up American opinion to the fact that this country WILL be in the war if it goes on long enough, and it becomes apparent that our participation is necessary to defeat Hitler. It ought also to convince the German High Command of the same thing.

Berlin has not the power to change this situation. It has the power only to delay it or expedite it.

Listen World!

When You Wear Out

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVER so often you wear out! This is an actual fact. Your body is constantly falling to pieces, using itself up. The body you now inhabit is not the body you inhabited as a baby. That baby body was demolished long since . . . as truly junked as any abandoned flivver. And ten years from now your present body will also be junk . . . you'll be using a new 1951 model.

Your body wears out. But by feeding yourself you build a new body. And the speed and strength of that new body depends on what you feed it. Any little tyke from the fourth grade knows this . . . knows why he must eat his spinach and get his Summer tan—what happens if he doesn't. Every magazine in its advertisements shouts The Gospel of the Vitamins to a listening and respectful world.

* * *

BUT there is another condition as natural, as grimly important as this physical fact, which few of us realize. Not only do our bodies wear out, need renewal—

But our minds also wear out.

Our thoughts and emotions are constantly falling to pieces.

They too must be renewed or they perish.

To most of us, our minds are rather mysterious things. Even the wisest scientists do not know what Thought is nor where nor why it occurs. Small wonder that the average citizen treats his mind as "one of those things"... expects it to function spontaneously.

But minds do not function spontaneously. Minds are as real as flesh, with as definite needs as flesh. Minds hunger just as flesh hungers. Minds can become malnourished by improper feeding, just as bodies can become malnourished. Minds can starve, die from starvation, as bodies starve. Minds can die even while the body lives on.

Every day, many times a day, you see minds doing just this . . . minds falling to pieces, without renewal . . . malnourished, starving minds . . . dying and dead minds.

A starving body is a horrible sight. But a starving mind is an even more horrible sight. A mind that is falling to pieces for lack of proper food . . . developing gangrenous sores of stupidity and prejudice which it lacks the vitality to heal . . . becoming bloated with the poisonous gas of conceit and suspicion.

And the most distressing part of this condition is the fact that we do not recognize it when we see it . . . particularly when it exists in ourselves.

We say, "Bill's getting pretty set in his ways" . . . or, "Mary's getting So Stuck Up you can't tell her anything." We wonder, vaguely, why the years should so maim people who were once witty, eager and warm . . . and secretly congratulate ourselves because we aren't "getting queer like that."

We don't realize that we are looking at death . . . at the ghastly processes of slow but sure disintegration. We are looking at minds that are falling to pieces . . . starving . . . looking, perhaps with eyes blinded by our own malnourishment, poisoned by our own ignorance and egotism.

"But I think!" you protest indignantly. "I read! And these other people . . . their minds aren't dying. They think and read too. They like to talk. You oughtta hear Bill get started on politics."

But DO you think? How often do you face a challenging idea . . . replace a worn out notion? Do they read? What's the vitamin Value of their literature? Do either of you really talk? Or do you just absorb and repeat chatter?

How long could a body stay healthy on a diet of cream puffs and pickles? By the same token, a mind as surely dies on a diet of babble and bluff.

Your body wears out. You've built a new body for yourself once, twice, thrice, or oftener, since you were born.

How often have you built a new mind? How long since you replaced the standards and opinion you had at 18?

No Pension, Thank You.

The Louisiana woman who declined a confederate pension payment of more than $1,000 might some day be honored for distinguished service to her state and nation. It could be done with entire propriety and without any reflection whatever upon the widows of veterans or any others who do accept pensions because of need.

But the pension business has been handled too loosely of late years and is always threatening to get out of control. It is aggravated by the fact that too many persons who otherwise could make their own way or obtain support are all too ready to look to government, state or national or both, to carry them along. This is not the path of self-reliance which the Louisiana widow of a Confederate veteran, Mrs. Cornelia Spearman Chase of Shreveport, has elected to take. Although 63, she is at work and carrying herself along, hence doesn't think the state should assume any part of the obligation.

It is simply different, refreshing and altogether against the trend. —Kansas City Star.

Summary of Week's Happenings

U. S. Convoy to Iceland Assured, Revision of Neutrality Law Next

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

NO SOONER had the president announced the shoot-on-sight policy against European Axis raiders than Americans wanted to know all the angles. Two sentences in particular were mulled:

1—There were arguments about what waters he meant when he said: "If German or Italian vessels of war enter the waters, the protection of which is necessary for American defense, they do so at their own peril."

His only definite hint was that the seas immediately surrounding all American out-posts were so considered. Secretary of the Navy Knox made it clear that the stretch between the American continent and Iceland was included.

On the other hand Secretary Hull didn't think the waters could be defined. He said Germany's action would determine what areas the U. S. would consider "defensive waters."

From this many Americans concluded that all the navigable waters of the world were potential American defense zones and that the U. S. was reserving judgment as to where the actual zones might lie.

AP writer Richard L. Turner opined that FDR was carrying the "war of nerves" back to Germany, its famed exponent. He wrote:

"Adolf Hitler cannot dispatch his U-boats to any point outside their German harbors without a jittery wonder as to whether, no matter where they are going, they will . . . become the targets of the guns and depth charges of the American fleet."

2—The president stated: "No act of intimidation will keep us from maintaining intact . . . our lines of supply of materiel to the enemies of Hitler. . . ."

Americans wondered — did that mean convoys, the arming of merchant ships, revision of the neutrality act?

Secretary Knox answered one of these when he said that convoys and other forms of protection were being used to guard lend-lease cargoes at least to Iceland.

The neutrality law, passed shortly after the war began, provides that (a) American ships cannot travel to specified belligerent countries, (b) Americans are forbidden to travel on belligerent vessels except under regulations issued by the president, (c) title of goods must be transferred before they can be shipped to belligerents, (d) the arming of American merchant ships is forbidden.

An "informed leader" in Washington said that if he were guessing he would assume that Mr. Roosevelt would prefer wiping the neutrality law off the statute books to seeking individual amendments.

At Home

Price Order Is Defied.

As a part of his determined campaign to keep prices from running wild, Price Administrator Leon Henderson asked hard coal producers for data to justify their proposed increase of 15 cents a ton at the mines.

After the data arrived he turned thumbs down and "froze" anthracite prices at the August 15 level until more convincing data was produced. Spokesmen for the coal companies thereupon announced they could not "accede to any arbitrary price ceiling." They suggested that Henderson had not had "full opportunity to analyze this data."

They said they couldn't follow his orders because of operating deficits and the wage increases operators put through last spring. Up went prices. After operators produced more data Henderson consented to the rise.

Tax Bill's Last Stages.

If you're unmarried and earn $2,000 a year you've been paying about $44 income tax. Now you're going to pay about $117. It's in the new $3,553,000,000 defense tax increase legislation, completed after five months of study and debate. Exemptions for single persons are cut from $800 to $750 and for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500, and there are surtaxes that start at 6% on the first dollar of taxable income.

Even if you still don't have to pay income taxes, you'll pay 5% on an electric light bulb, 10% on a movie ticket, $5 a year "use tax" on your car and a score of other "nuisance" taxes. The liquor tax goes up from $3 to $4 a gallon.

Legion Reverses Stand.

American Legionnaires meeting in Milwaukee reversed themselves by favoring the removal of geographic limitations on the use of American troops and the repeal of the American neutrality law. For years their convention had gone on record against ever again sending an American army to Europe.

Help for Russia.

Though Russia has been denied lend-lease aid, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones disclosed that he would provide $100,000,000 to Russia for purchase of war materials in America. Technically the money would be payment for minerals to be delivered to the U. S.

This Is Ohio

ONE of the units of the Ohio division of forestry about which little is said or known is the Marietta forest nursery in Washington county. Located about five miles up the river from Marietta, it has an area of 97 acres, of which about 60 acres are used for the production of nursery stock. The capacity of the nursery is approximately 10,000,000 trees per year, although the average output during the past five years has been approximately 5,500,000 trees per year. Last fall 3,500,000 trees were planted.

The trees produced at the Marietta nursery are used entirely for the reforestation of idle land.

Abroad

Hitler's Answer.

As if trying to answer FDR's talk with actions, Germany informed the world immediately after his speech that she had sunk more than a score of ships from a British convoy in the North Atlantic. Britain set the figure at eight.

Meanwhile reports were heard in New York that Germany, France and Spain had worked out plans for defending West Africa—which meant the Nazis might operate not only out of France's strategic Dakar but also from Casablanca farther north.

One of several guerrilla raids by Serb revolutionaries killed 400 persons in a single village.

Occupied France—New repressive measures included a decree by German authorities that persons possessing firearms illegally would be liable to execution, and the shooting of 10 more hostages in reprisal for assault on German army men. Immediately after this reprisal shots were fired at a German non-com. Then two Germans were killed and a third wounded.

Unwelcome Ambassador.

The United States' most aloof and powerful neighbor to the South, Argentina, has recently had its dander up over Nazi infiltration. A Congressional investigating committee bluntly named German ambassador, Edmund von Thermann, as head of a Nazi political organization which it said has its own storm troops and secret police.

Von Thermann said he would not budge from the country unless specifically asked to do so.

Thereupon the Argentine Congress voted 79 to 1 in favor of a resolution which said von Thermann had "abused his privileges" and called on the administration to oust within three days the ringleaders of Nazi undercover groups.

Amid the squabble about how best to meet the threatened shortage of oil on the Eastern seaboard, a special Senate committee headed by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) dipped into the subject. It came out with the tentative conclusion that the threatened shortage was a mirage.

"The shortage, as we see it, is a shortage of surplus and not a shortage of products, or a lack of facilities to transport them."

Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said that people "who contend there is no gasoline shortage may have to eat their words six months from now." He emphasized that conservation was essential now because more carriers will have to carry fuel oil in the winter.

Meanwhile, OPM disclosed that a sweeping 48.4% drop in passenger auto production had been ordered for December.

WOMEN OF MOOSE HOLD INITIATION SERVICE

Formal Rituals Conducted at Opening Session of State Convention of Lodge Auxiliary Friday Evening; Miss Ruth Roesch In Charge.

By RUTH TITSCHINGER

TWO HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN women were initiated at a special ritual service for the Women of the Moose Friday evening at the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The formal service was conducted by officers of the Mansfield chapter of the lodge with guests present for the state convention in attendance. Miss Ruth Roesch, senior regent, of Mansfield was in charge of the conference class and was assisted by Nora Sowash, chaplain; Ethel Ferrell, past regent; Edythe Hill, junior regent; Peg Yingling, treasurer; Alice Mitchell, pianist; Emma Pearce, sentinel; Nannie Lowman, recorder; Katherine Cheney, assistant guide; Pauline Shively, guide; and Glenna Miller, argus.

Attending the initiation in their formal black caps and gowns were the national officers of the Women of the Moose. Those in attendance were Eva Waller, of Canton, grand ritualist, PhD; Mary Wallace of Cincinnati, graduate grand regent, Phd; Leu Willis, chairman of the board of the Mooseheart hospital guild, Mooseheart, Ill.; Ann Regner, graduate associate regent of "The College of Regents" of Columbus; Eunice Sherman, associate regent of "The College of Regents, Norwood; Pearl Alflen, state dean, of Canton; Esther Taylor, vice president of the alumni association, of Barberton; Erma Wenninger, of Bucyrus, state conference leader; Louise Lemke, associate PhD and graduate grand dame; Goldie Bartlett, associate PhD., and member of the national advisory committee.

Dr. Martin Reymert, director of research at Mooseheart, Ill., was the guest speaker during the initiation service, telling of the activities of the organization and the duties of the members.

Preceding the initiation, dinner was served 100 members of the organization at a long U-shaped tables decorated with garden flowers. Estella Arras was chairman of the dinner arrangements. During this period accordion and piano selections were played. Honored guests were national officers. Short talks were given by several of the group following the dinner.

Members of the registration committee, Loretta Zellers, Effie Keltner, Lola Raby and Bessie Ricks of this city, were in charge of arrangements for the registration of delegates at the hotel Friday. High lighting today's program was the panel discussion on committee activities which was held at 11 a. m. at the Grotto hall, Mary Wallace gave a summary of the program at the close of the meeting. At 3 p. m. members will take part in the parade.

At the Mooseheart Alumni banquet which is being held this evening at the Mansfield Leland hotel members of the Women of the Moose will be guests. Following the banquet, the delegates will dance at the Moose club.

HELEN MENDENHALL WEDS EUGENE BUTTS

First Lutheran Church Scene of Quiet Service Uniting In Marriage Young Mansfield Couple; Hold Reception Sunday.

IN A QUIET CEREMONY performed Friday morning at the First Lutheran church, Miss Helen Mendenhall, North Mulberry street, daughter of Carl Mendenhall of Ashtabula, exchanged nuptial vows with Eugene Butts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Butts, South Main street road. The single ring service was performed by Rev. G. E. Swoyer in the presence of a few close friends and relatives of the couple.

The bride was attired in a red frock made Princess style, with accessories in black. Her corsage was of rosebuds. Attending the couple were Mrs. Edith Rosser, aunt of the bride, and Walter Mapes, jr., friend of the couple. Mrs. Rosser was attired in a blue tailored suit with black accessories. She wore a corsage of rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for a few guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Dinner was served from a long table decorated with garden flowers and appointments in pastel shades. Following the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip through the eastern part of the state. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories.

Mrs. Butts is a graduate of Ashtabula high school. Mt. Butts attended Madison high school and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The couple will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents. A reception will be held for the couple tomorrow at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

H. U. T. Club Holds Re-organization Meet

A re-organization meeting of the H. U. T. club was held recently at the Palmer cabin. Following a covered dish dinner plans were made for the year's program. Mrs. H. C. Swift gave a report on the activities of the club for the coming year. Two guests, Miss Emily Palmer and Mrs. J. M. Buchanan, were in attendance.

Members of the entertainment committee, Mrs. W. B. Huber, Mrs. Wayne Sutton and Mrs. Rolla Stull, then entertained the group. Mrs. Sutton and Miss Marjorie Gongwer will be hostesses for the next meeting to be held Oct. 2.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"THERE'S NO use speculating about it," I told Mary. "You'll know shortly after my father gets here what it is he wants of you."

"And in the meantime," she said, "I'll get dressed, tidy up the living room, and get ready to be a bright and scintillating breakfast guest."

I mentally commented as I closed the bathroom door that the one thing my father would not want was bright and scintillating conversation. But I knew that Mary, discreet in big things, however careless she might be about conventions where her private behavior was concerned, was only talking to bolster her courage for the coming interview.

Knowing that she would be in readiness to receive him, I reveled in the hot soap shower, the tepid one following it and the cold dash finishing the ablutions, a procedure which always makes me feel for a brief second or two like a goddess. Then I dressed, did my hair, applied cold creams, lotion and powder, and came back into the living room, just as Mary answered the shrilling telephone.

"Grandpa Spencer is on the way up," she said, and I took the telephone from her hand, and spoke into it.

The Chief Arrives.

"Room service, in a hurry, please," and when the waiter answered the call, I urged him to hasten the breakfast.

"It's just leaving the kitchen now," he said, and with everything "under control" as Dicky is so fond of saying, I went to the door to greet my father.

"Are you ready to go?" he asked, when I had drawn forward an easy chair for him, and he had greeted Mary, with a reassuring "Don't worry, child!" which promptly calmed her patent nervousness.

"All ready as soon as we have breakfasted," I told him.

"But we can't wait—" he began, and a knock on the door effectually stopped his protest.

"Here's the breakfast now," I said, and when the table came in with the warming oven beside it, I hurriedly marshalled my father and Mary into chairs, took my own, and we all began to eat, tacitly observing my rule, to which my father generally bows, that in time of stress, we shall not mix discussion of plans without food.

"East first, and talk afterward," is the motto I enforce, and Dicky and my father usually observe it with a good grace. But never have I obtained my mother-in-law's cooperation, and I long ago gave up any attempt to win her over to my slogan.

I noticed with pleasure that my father was enjoying his meal, and Mary and I were valient trencherwomen after our naps, despite the worry that engulfed us. When we had finished, Mary and I shoved the table into the hall, and shutting the door, came back and sat down opposite my father who had taken out one of his special cigars, and was contemplating it almost affectionately.

"May I smoke?" he asked with the old-fashioned courteous request, almost an anachronism nowadays.

We both gave immediate and enthusiastic assent, and when he had lighted it and puffed it for a patently luxurious minute or two, he looked over at me.

Safe Traveling.

"What I have to discuss with you," he said, "can be covered while we are journeying to Lillian's—incidentally in the armored car—so don't have any tremors or palpitating questions 'why' or 'wherefore' when you see it at the curb."

Was he simply giving me a taste of my own medicine in requiring me to travel in the armored car as I had insisted that he do in going down to the village? I acquitted him of that pettiness, but, knowing that the Underwood apartment was in a most conservative section of the city, I wondered if he had learned of some danger which might threaten one of us while we were traveling across the city.

"I love traveling in that car," I told him, and he lifted a quizzical eyebrow at me, as he turned to Mary.

"Forgive this question, Mary," he said, "but I must ask it. Just what is the status of your friendship with Stephen Redfield?"

A hot flush spread over Mary's face.

"There isn't any status, any more," she said. "When I told you what I'd found out, and why I'd been playing around with him, I didn't finish the story. Noel plainly showed his jealousy at the party, and Steve made a wisecrack to me about Noel later in this apartment that made me furious. Noel knocked at the door just at that instant, and Steve was so frightened, he didn't know which way he was headed. At Aunt Madge's behest, I got him out and turned him over for safe keeping to my papa-in-law, but while I was doing it, I burned him up plenty. I blistered him on all sides."

"Dear, dear," said my father astonishingly. "I am sorry to hear that."

CHAPTER VI

Martin Deale was half an inch taller than Dal Tower, and that may have caused Martin's error, in part. Height often is a delusion; it is not necessarily a concomitant of strength. Martin was no weakling by any means but life was essentially sedentary. He lived on a family inheritance although he did earn well as a talented artist whenever the inspiration struck him to do this creative work. His mind was undeniably brilliant in its way, his hands even more sensitive looking than those of the young physician before him. His exercise in the main had consisted of riding horseback.

On the other hand, Dal Tower had left college with three letters in football. At Northwestern university, that meant something.

When Martin's fist struck, Dal back-stepped. He might even have fallen but for a great Ionic post there on the Mayfield porch. In the shocked instant of hush, he rebounded.

Splack!

Dal's return blow—quite involuntary, so quick was it—sounded far more lethal than Martin's. And it was precisely as it sounded.

"Unh-h-h!"

Martin gave an odd little moan there on the floor before them and lay perfectly still.

"D-D-Dallas!" It was only a tense whisper from Lillian, but it broke the strain. Mrs. Mayfield stammered something, and Thad Monroe rumbled an impressed, "Whee-euw!"

It remained for Dal himself to actually move first, however. The spectators had seemed spellbound for an ageless moment.

Suddenly Dal was stooping over Martin, then kneeling.

"He's out. Unconscious. Some one please open the door, then bring me a basin of water. And—I say Monroe, run to my car and bring my bag, will you?"

He had an arm under Martin's shoulder by now and would have lifted the stricken boy, but Dorothy "Baby Doll" Mayfield had come to life.

"Martin!" she shrieked, dramatically, and threw herself almost bodily onto him.

* * *

While the others stared at this fresh surprise and all tried now to murmur something at once, 17-year-old Dorothy had her grand scene. At least she would have imagined it grand, in contemplation, and no doubt the teen-age girl did feel keenly.

"Martin, are you dead—oh Martin!" She mixed it with sundry sobs and gestures, fondling Martin's shoulder and face.

"Of course he's not dead, Miss Mayfield," Dal Tower assured her. "He'll come to in a moment, with nothing but a sore jaw. Here—let me—"

He lifted Martin right out from under her, much as he had lifted Lillian herself last night, and marched with the limp form into the Mayfield hall. He saw a long divan and stretched Martin there.

The suddenness of it all and the utter heresy of having such a thing happen on the Mayfield premises—of all places—had served to stun the others. Nobody was very articulate, and only Dal and Thad seemed capable of taking any intelligent action. Dal even had to ask M. J. Parker to open the screen door when he carried Martin in.

They still hung around like gaping, helpless children until Thad ran back. Immediately, then, Mrs. Mayfield began to help bathe Martin's face. Dorothy started inanely stroking his hand and continuing to sob a little.

* * *

Actually, there wasn't much to be done. Simple ministrations for a few minutes had Martin Deale back to consciousness again. Nobody, save Dorothy, had actually expressed any regret, or any reprimand of either combatant. The girls and Thad and M. J. looked often at "Miss Millie"; apparently she was the one most affronted here. And even Dal seemed to sense that in a little while.

When he had Martin wanting to sit up, Dal spoke to them all.

"I'll be going," said he. "Mrs. Mayfield—my deepest apologies. Every time I try to make friends in your family, something happens! Deale is all right now. I shall—"

"You were horrible!" Dorothy said.

"Hush, Dorothy," Mrs. Mayfield herself commanded. "Dr. Tower, I don't see how you could have acted other than you did. Martin was most impetuous. He—"

"I'm taking all the blame myself," said Thad Monroe. "Last night I framed upon Tower here, and we three boys all told him privately that we were engaged to Lillian. Today he gave us back the same thing, is all. Martin didn't like it last night. I don't know what the hell he—excuse me, ma'am—I don't know why he felt offended, unless it's because Tower is a stranger, but so far as I'm concerned—"

"I'm leaving," Dal put in again, starting to go now in truth. "At least I can stay out of people's way."

"Dal, wait!" They all turned to face Lillian. "Did you come out to tell me about the mass meeting? And maybe take me to it?"

"Why—why yes, but—"

"I'm going with you, then. This is all so silly here, all of this. Mother, I shall eat lunch downtown somewhere. And I am quite capable of taking care of myself!"

That last was a challenge to her mother and all others who might be listening, they realized. Nobody protested. Dallas looked distressed, but—if such a thing was possible—happily so. He already had his bag in hand. All he could do now was walk to his car with Lillian at his side.

* * *

People weren't waiting until 2 p. m. to gather for the mass meeting. Already, at noon, the Square was roped off from vehicular traffic by Mayor Scott's order, and several thousand pedestrians milled around in there. Every one of them carried an air of excitement. The oil well itself was present, its fumes brought quite noticeably by a westerly wind. The Rangeville high school band was already on the courthouse steps whanging away at its favorite medley which included "For Rice's Honor," and "Sweet Peruna" and "The Eyes of Texas" and other college songs of the state. The enterprising ladies of the Baptist church were swelling their missionary fund peddling hot dogs and buns. As for Rangeville's three restaurants—they were hopelessly swamped even at outrageous prices, and customers stood four and five deep behind each of Bubba Hightower's Drugstore stools.

"You made a bad guess, about eating," Dal told Lillian, when they had parked and finally got to the square. "I'd buy you a roasted ox if I only could."

She smiled. I'm not hungry. I just wanted to get away."

"But I'm famished. A malted milk is all since supper."

"Oh! Why of course, Dal. And you worked so hard, and haven't slept. You must eat! I—come on!"

She led him pre-emptorily to Rayford's Grocery, and she did not stop near the front. She elbowed through the crowd of farmers, negroes and loungers, herded Dal right to a counter where rested a huge cheese on a circular metal block. She lifted the great knife lever and cut off a yellow slab.

Next she delved into a shelf and brought out a box of crackers, thence deep into an ice box and found two bottled drinks. Ted Rayford himself came by then, and grinned. "Help yourself, Miss Lillian," he invited. "I'll try to be with you in a minute."

She didn't need him. Dal was helping with the things now. Together they went back of the large ice box in the store rear, sat down on two sacks of potatoes and used an unopened barrel of lard for a table. Sawdust covered the floor and cobweb drapes made the lonewindow dingy, but suddenly Dal laughed.

"Say, gal!" he began, appreciatively. "These sho am grand eatments!"

Lillian laughed back. "And you sho am poor at southern dialect, Mr. Yankee, suh! But it's all right. Eat heartily."

Through a huge bite he said, "You're okay, really. You like adventures. So do I. I bet you've been cooped up." He pointed a hunk of cheese at her, and she nodded. "Well, listen, Lillian, I may be wrong, but I'll bet a cracked cuspidor this sleepy old town is going to snap awake, beginning last night. I hit here at the right time."

"Right, Dal. People are already talking about you."

"How do you know that? You've been inside and haven't heard any—"

"I don't need to hear. I know Rangeville. People saw you save those burned men last night. The hospital nurse saw you work frantically over the injured ones. M. J., and Thad, and Baby Doll, and even mother—they aren't tonguetied! You'll have all the practice you can handle before night. Better stay near a phone."

* * *

He turned serious at that, still eating, talking no more.

He was between her and the window, and Lillian could study his strong silhouette. She remembered the terrific wallop he had given Martin Deale, after Martin's own first blow seemingly had hurt him not at all. She heard the band and the noise of people outside. She smelled the oil well even in here. She knew, in truth, that sleepy old Rangeville was due for rapid metomorphosis, with Dal Tower a part of it.

And intuition now told her that she too would be overwhelmingly involved.

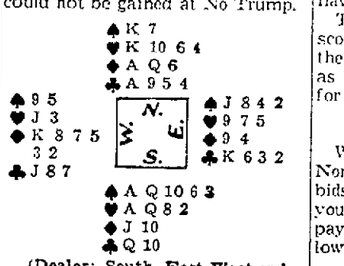
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FAVOR THE 4-4 SUIT

A MAJOR suit containing four cards in your hand and the same number in your partner's usually is the best declaration in which to play a deal, whether at a low contract or a high one, and regardless of whether the game be rubber bridge or duplicate. A longer suit, containing the same total number of cards between the two hands, usually is better to have on the side to furnish discards. Seldom should No Trump be preferred if you have any distribution other than the balanced 4-3-3-3, since with any other you can usually count on a ruffing trick which could not be gained at No Trump.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	(?)

Several users of the Blackwood Convention did that bidding in a duplicate tournament. In some cases the North player than bid 6-No-Trumps, reckoning that with his great honor strength the side probably could take just as many tricks at No Trumps as at hearts.

In each of these cases the lead was the diamond 9 to the 10, K and A. Followed then the spade K, A and Q, whereupon a trick was given up to the spade J and the rest of the tricks were won for a total of four in spades, four in hearts, three in diamonds and one in clubs. Note that it would have been unsound for the declarer, with seven spades, to finesse against the J.

Where North, holding four cards of his partner's heart suit, went to 6-Hearts, he took all of the tricks. He was able to ruff the fourth spade and won an obligatory diamond finesse, a club having been led originally.

The heart declarers made seven scoring 210 points for tricks, plus the game and slam bonuses, whereas the No Trumpers got only 190 for tricks and so were beaten.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

With East-West vulnerable, if North passes as dealer and East bids 1-No Trump, what action by you in the South is most likely to pay you a profit on the hand below, and why?

BUCYRUS CORN FESTIVAL TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Husking Contest, Square Dance, to Feature Closing Day Events.

BUCYRUS — Corn husking contests scheduled to start this afternoon will open the program for the closing day of the third annual Crawford County Corn show.

Prizes for the husking contests and other competitive events will be awarded by Corn Queen Third, Miss Betty Stephan of Tiro, at 4 p. m.

The street carnival and old fashioned square dance tonight will climax the show, which the sponsoring "B" club have declared a success.

Friday night a crowd estimated at several thousand witnessed the parade through down-town streets. Five musical units, commercial and farm organizations floats and a float carrying the queen and her attendants were highlights of the parade.

THEATERS

Ice Skating Spectacle.

"Sun Valley Serenade," Sonja Henie's new ice-skating spectacle playing at the Ohio, co-stars John Payne with the ballerina on skates and headlines Glenn Miller and his orchestra. Set on the sunny, snowy slopes of the nation's vacationland, the production gives the blond whirlwind on ice some new routines in skiing as well. The light plot is woven around Payne, as a piano player in Glenn Miller's band, who finds the "little" refugee he has offered to care for is none other than a skating star. Milton Berle and Lynn Bari are in the cast.

* * *

Western Saga.

Roaring saga of pioneer times when the Younger brothers were one of the toughest bands in American history, "Bad Men of Missouri," showing at the Madison, presents Dennis Morgan, Wayne Morris and Arthur Kennedy as the trio that terrorized the west. Robbing the rich to give to the poor the trio attempts to avenge their father's death and right the wrongs of neighbors dispossessed while the brothers were fighting with the Confederate army. Jane Wyman and Virginia Brissac are also cast. "Tillie the Toiler," an adaptation from the comic strip, is the second picture.

* * *

Exciting Drama.

Filmed amid a stirring background of feuds, fights and furious rivalry, "Naval Academy," opening at the Park, Sunday features Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lydon and Billy Cook in the roles of three typical American boys whose paths cross at a training school for Naval Cadets. "Ice-Capades," featuring Dorothy Lewis, the skater who held forth three years in the Iridium room at the St. Regis hotel in New York, is the second attraction. James Ellison, Jerry Colonna and Vera Vague are in the cast of the production that deals with a skating star anda newsreel cameraman assigned to cover her engagement.

* * *

Popular Comedy.

Myrna Loy and William Powell open Sunday at the Majestic in "Third Finger Left Hand." The co-attraction, "The Son of Monte Cristo," an elaborate period drama, features Louis Hayward and Joan Bennett.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Sunday, September 21

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds auguries of a splendid, eventful and progressive day, with great promise for success and happiness in nearly all relations. Fidelity, diligence and steadfastness should be rewarded, with all promised stability and enduring prosperity, property increase and surprising romantic adventure, probably thrilling change and travel. There may be gifts or bequests. Keep firm curb on tongue and temper in all contracts.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a prosperous and progressive year in which foundations for a secure and expanding good fortune and happiness are to be enjoyed. Merit, faithfulness and industry should claim their reward, in position, gifts, bequests or other safe emoluments. Sudden and dramatic change may be imminent, with travel and romantic adventure.

For Monday, September 22

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of operations and aims of major scope and objectives, with great ambitions and efficiency reaching desired goals. Enterprise, initiative and ambition all move to high levels of expression, under fiery impetus of forces and faculties. The danger is that such may be carried beyond bounds, by rash words or violent deeds precipitating physical dangers. Be calm.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of great advancement upon high goals of ambition and achievement, by splendid energy, initiative, high skill, and fine constructive ability These may be promised by powerful interests or influential friends, generous and enthusiastic. But this must not be jeopardized by rash, tempestuous or ill-governed conduct, in writing or speech.

Tygers Swamp Akron West 40 to 0 In Grid Opener

Sport Podge by REX HESS

"That," said Lou Wagner, Ohio Wesleyan basketball coach and head lineman for last night's football game at Stadium field, "is the speediest Mansfield team I've seen in four years.

"Of course Akron West didn't give much opposition, but I was surprised at the speed and precision with which the Tygers carried out their offensive assignments.

"And that Adam Brandt is the hardest hitting little fellow I've seen in a long time.

"Time and again I thought they had him stopped, but you had to get him down to stop him. He'd put his head down and barrel into the tacklers, bounce off, get his legs going again and dash away for long gains when it seemed he'd be held to three or four yards."

* * *

Words of praise from whistle blowers.
Should tickle the fancy of gridiron goers.

* * *

"It was a good, clean, hard game the boys played out there tonight," continued Wagner, "and the number of penalties called was unusually low for the first game of the season.

"Of course the subs got over-anxious in the last quarter and piled up a few penalties, but that was to be expected."

* * *

I phoned the score to the Akron Beacon-Journal after the game. "Forty to nothing," I told the man on the other end of the line.

"WHAT?" he shouted, not quite believing his ears.

"That's right," I told him, "Mansfield 40, Akron West 0."

"It must have been a great game," said he, disgustedly.

* * *

Akron really expected more from its city champions than a 40-0 trimming. But West was in there battling right up to the end. You can give 'em credit for that.

Cards Gain Half Game

St. Louis Takes Cubs As Brooklyn Rests.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

The baseball season is getting shorter by the minute, and perhaps a solution to the struggle in the National league is getting nearer by the same reckoning—but it isn't visible to the naked eye.

* * *

While the Brooklyn Dodgers were in Philadelphia yesterday frittering away an off day, the St. Louis Cardinals were busy blistering the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, and making the race in the senior circuit just about as close as it can get.

* * *

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB	TP
Brooklyn	93	52	.641	—	9
St. Louis	92	52	.639	½	9

For the first time in months the two rivals have exactly the same number of games left to play—and the pressure that has been and still is on the Cardinals becomes readily apparent.

The fortunes of the contenders may fluctuate between now and the close of the campaign a week from tomorrow, but if during that time the Dodgers win exactly as many games as the Cards, Brooklyn will get the pennant.

* * *

The Cardinals have shown no sign of cracking. The return of Terry Moore to centerfield and the addition of some rookie strength has given them new power for the final lap.

* * *

Yesterday, in the only major league game scheduled, they looked as good as ever in bowling over the Cubs, who only a couple of weeks ago knocked St. Louis out of first place.

The Cards are so close to the Dodgers, as a result, that they can take over first place today by two percentage points if Brooklyn should split its doubleheader with the Phillies.

They're liable to stay that close right down to the wire.

MEET FOSTORIA

Mansfield Eagles will bowl the Texas Gas team of Fostoria at the Colony alleys tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, instead of Sandusky, originally scheduled to meet the Eagles here.

Adam Brandt Stars as Mansfield Wins Victory

Green Visiting Team Fails to Provide Test of Snyder Club.

By REX HESS, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD HIGH'S TYGERS clicked with workmanlike precision last night in swamping Akron West 40 to 0 in the opening game of the high school football season at Stadium field before a crowd of 4,000 fans.

But the question of how good are the Tygers remained unanswered. The green Akron West eleven had nothing to test Coach Paul Snyder's 1941 Mansfield machine. The score might just as well have been 50 or 60, or even more. Constant substitutions in the last period held down the score.

* * *

The Tygers showed signs of future greatness, but their opening night play was rather spotty. The line functioned well on both offense and defense, while in the backfield Adam Brandt, Bill Doolittle and Ken Krupp turned in a fine brand of ball.

* * *

Elroy Lightnin' Jones scored two third-period touchdowns, but he could have had several more if he had turned on the steam and caught up with his interference. Several times he was stopped with apparently a clear field ahead by West players who had been blocked out of the play, but who had time to get up and nab him.

But Elroy, like the rest of the Tygers, wasn't pepped up for this game. They all discovered in the opening minutes of play that they had easy picking, and they suffered the natural letdown which this knowledge brought them.

* * *

Jones showed he could ramble in his old familiar style when he went 42 yards for a touchdown that didn't count in the third period as Mansfield was penalized five yards for offside, and then came back on the next play for 17 yards and a first down, and shortly afterward galloped 19 yards for another touchdown that did count.

* * *

Adam Brandt was the outstanding star of this ball game. The stocky little Tyger fullback was in there to play football, and the fact that the opposition wasn't so tough didn't cause him to let down. Time after time West tacklers apparently had him stopped, but his hard-driving legs kept churning the turf and he'd bounce off for long gains.

Mansfield's first touchdown came after six minutes of play in the first quarter. After an exchange of punts on which they gained 10 yards, the Tygers marched 48 yards for the initial marker.

Chuck Condon hit the line for four yards, and then went off tackle for a first down on the 37-yard line. Condon picked up another two yards and then Brandt broke through the line for 14 yards and a first down on the 21.

* * *

Brandt cut back off right tackle for nine yards, and Condon got loose for a first down on the seven. Brandt picked up three yards in a smash at the line, failed on a second attempt, and then cracked over for a touchdown on the third. And then he booted the extra point.

* * *

An 80-yard march, started late in the quarter and completed early in the second period brought the next touchdown. Jones went around end for 12 and a first down. Condon went off tackle for eight yards and then lateralled to Jones for a 30-yard gain. In the next series of downs a five-yard penalty held up the Mansfield offensive, but on fourth down Winbigler dropped back in punt formation and worked the old Statue of Liberty play, handing the ball to Jones for a 20-yard gain and a first down on the 22.

On the first play of the second quarter Brandt drove for 11 yards and a first down on the 11. Shortly afterward Krupp went off tackle for a touchdown and again Brandt kicked goal.

Another march of 78 yards brought the third touchdown. Jones went around end for six yards and Bill Doolittle got loose for a 46-yard run and first down on the 26. Brandt hit the line twice for nine yards and Doolittle made it another first down. Jones went around end for four, and Doolittle made it first down on the six. Mansfield was penalized five yards for offside, but Doolittle scampered 11 yards for the next score. Again Brandt booted the extra point and it was 21 to 0 at the half.

* * *

Three touchdowns were added in the third period, the first coming in quick order after Brandt recovered an Akron fumble on the visitors' 25-yard line. Condon made four yards through the line, and Jones, on a reverse, raced 21 yards for the touchdown. And for the fourth straight time Brandt kicked the extra point.

* * *

West made its only scoring threat of the game after the next kickoff, which was returned to the 30-yard line. Bob Flint, colored fullback who scored a touchdown against Mansfield last year, broke away for a 24-yard run and Mansfield was penalized 15 yards more for tackling out of bounds. Flint tossed a pass to Finney for a 22-yard gain and first down on the four-yard line.

Here the Tygers were called on to show their defensive strength, and they had it. Three tries at the line failed to gain an inch and on the next play a pass from Flint to Finney was incomplete over the goal line.

Taking the ball on the four-yard line, the Tygers paraded just 96 yards for a touchdown. Krupp picked up 15 yards off tackle, Jones made 34 on a reverse, Krupp twice got through the line for eight yards each time, Jones made 11 and a first down on the 17, and from there Krupp went through tackle, shook off three tacklers, and scored standing up. This time Brandt's kick was blocked.

* * *

On the last play of the third Jones romped 19 yards for a touchdown. A bad pass from center messed up the try for point.

* * *

Then the substitutions, which had been trickling into the Mansfield lineup began coming in in droves, and the over-anxious subs spoiled their chances of scoring in the last period by a series of penalties.

Next Friday night the Tygers go to Elyria, and on the following Friday night they meet Sandusky here.

TIFFIN PROVES TARTER, UPSETS BUCYRUS, 27-0.

TIFFIN — Quarterback Bob Young ripped off three touchdowns here last night to lead his Tiffin Columbian high school teammates to a 27-6 victory over Bucyrus high school in an upset.

Tiffin scored two touchdowns in the second period and followed with two more in the fourth. Bucyrus scored its lone touchdown in the fourth.

Shelby Trims Norwalk High

Whippets Score In Each Period For 26-7 Win.

SHELBY—Shelby high school opened its football season here last night by soundly trouncing Norwalk high, 26-7 before 3,500 spectators.

* * *

Scoring in each of the four periods in the game, they easily passed Norwalk's first score.

* * *

Norwalk set up its score with a series of passes as the game opened. The first pass from Barnes to Edwards took them to the 15-yard-line and another from Barnes to Bauman to the five. From there Barnes went over on a line buck. Barnes plunged again for the extra point.

Shelby evened the score when Laubie made a 75-yard run on the first play after the kickoff and Nimmons kicked the extra point.

* * *

In the second quarter Ernsberger caught a Laubie pass for a 53-yard touchdown run and Nimmons failed to make the kick.

* * *

Leading as they came out after half time, the Shelby team added two more touchdowns before the game ended. In the third quarter Bonecutter climaxed a 65-yard march by fumbling the ball over the goal into the arms of his teammate, York. And in the fourth period Laubie passed once more to Ernsberger ending an 85-yard march.

WILLARD, ASHLAND PLAY TO A 6-6 TIE GAME

WILLARD—Willard's Crimson Flashes and Ashland's Orangemen played four quarters of football here last night and all for the exercise. After it was all over they had settled nothing. The game ended in a 6 to 6 tie.

Bartley scored the Ashland touchdown in the third period on an end around play after Junior Whisler had put Willard in the lead with an off tackle plunge in the first.

Loudonville Wins First

Smears Danville, 31-0, Scoring In 3 Periods.

Loudonville had a field day on its gridiron last night as it romped over Danville 31-0 in its first game of the season.

* * *

Scoring five touchdowns in the last three quarters of the game, they capitalized on the line plunging abilities of their fullback, Nouse, who scored three of the touchdowns personally.

* * *

After a scoreless first period the Red Birds set up a touchdown on the three yard line with a pass and the gifted Nouse dived over.

J. Young made the second touchdown of that period when after a run from the 30-yard line he fumbled the ball over the goal and his team-mates fell on it.

* * *

In the third quarter Nouse again scored with a plunge, this time after a series of line plays had taken them to the five. Rader kicked this point.

* * *

Marietta and Nouse pushed over another brace of touchdowns in the last quarter. Marietta on a 28-yard gallop and Nouse on a two-yard plunge.

Mansfield's State Champion Provident Loan girls' softball team has accepted the challenge of the Ashland Provident Loans for a return game, and now the two teams are booked for two tilts to wind up the season.

They're scheduled tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at North Lake park, and next Saturday afternoon at the Shiloh homecoming.

Tribe Moves To Cut Team

Weatherly Slated For Axe As Indians Get Surgery.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND — (AP)—The folding Cleveland Indians may be the subject of much surgery before next season, but the most certain project of all is an impending major operation on the $13,000 salary of Outfielder Roy Weatherly.

* * *

Presiding at the knife will be Dr. Alva Bradley, better known as the Tribe's president. From the way the doctor talked today the slash will be so deep that he may be in danger of losing his patient.

* * *

"Weatherly has been much overpaid, and he's a different priced ball player next year," Bradley declared in firm tones.

The mile outfielder was one of the speediest fly chasers in the majors—until this season. He reported well above his former playing weight of 175 pounds and his fielding and batting skidded sadly.

Weatherly's present poundage is something of a mystery, because he is under suspension for the second time this season for failing to hustle. However, somebody who should know what he's talking about squinted at the scales recently and thought he saw them hit 192 pounds.

* * *

If the pay cut is too severe, Weatherly might decide not to play at all.

* * *

Other Indians on the 1941 doubtful list include Hal Trosky, slugging first baseman whose frequent headaches even Dr. Bradley cannot cure, and Catcher Rollie Hemsley. The list doesn't stop there, and many new faces will pop in the next spring training camp.

Reserves Win At Bellville

Five First Downs Lead To Only Score of Game.

Mansfield High Reserves pushed over a first period touchdown yesterday at Bellville to score an upset victory 6 to 0.

* * *

Coach Harry Mehock's sophomores rolled up five first downs in the touchdown march with little Mike Sferro blasting over for the marker from the two yard line.

* * *

Bellville made only one scoring threat, and then got only to the Mansfield 20-yard line. Sferro, Frank and Bob Miller and Davis played a good game for Mansfield, while Jacobs starred at backing up the line.

Next Friday the reserves go to New London.

Massillon Edges Weirton, 6-0

MASSILLON—Playing with only one veteran from last year and under a new coach, Massillon Washington's Tigers eked out a 6-0 win over the Wierton (W. Va.) Red Riders here last night.

* * *

In their toughest battle since 1937 the Massillon team scored their touchdown on an off tackle dash by Fullback Fred Blunt in the third period.

* * *

Coach William G. (Bud) Houghton, who took Paul Brown's place when Brown moved to Ohio State university, saw his team mark up their 34th consecutive victory.

MARION HARDING BLANKS JOHN MARSHALL, 35-0

MARION—Marion Harding high school proved too much for Cleveland John Marshall here last night as the Presidents walked over the Lawyers 35-0, scoring in every period.

Scoring touchdowns for the Marion team were D. Hurst, Kemerly, Jenkins, Daly, and Roberts. Day Hurst climaxed the first touchdown drive with a one-yard plunge in the first period.

SPRINGFIELD ROLLS

SPRINGFIELD — Coach Jim McDonald's Springfield high gridders rolled over Cincinnati Norwood for an easy 32 to 0 victory in the opening game of the season last night.

Madison Drives to 19-13 Victory Over New London

By BUD SPRINGER
(N-J Sports Writer)

Madison high school's Rams gave out with a big dose of football yesterday, trouncing the New London high school delegation 19-13 in the Wildcat backyard.

Displaying an ability to score at leisure, they scored in the first, second and fourth quarters with seeming ease whenever the urge was on them.

* * *

Bob Anthony ripped off a 15 yard gallop in the opening minutes of the game to give the Mansfield team a first down on the Wildcat 11 and then three plays later plunged over from the four-yard-line for the first score.

* * *

A place kick went wide and the Rams spent the rest of the first quarter holding the Wildcats at bay within the Ram 20 yard marker.

Barnes started the New London team off on the right foot in the second quarter by finally crashing through to a first down on the Rams one yard marker. After that Seibert scored, making the score 6 all.

After a missed drop kick, the Rams received a kickoff and after fooling around for three plays which moved the ball 13 yards to their own 49, shook Anthony loose again.

This time he carried the freight around his left end and scored standing up with a string of diving Wildcats marking his line of march. Hammer plunged the three yards for the extra point.

* * *

In the third quarter the Rams lost a chance to score again when the referee remembered seeing a "clip" after the ball was over the goal line, but they made that up with another 40-yard gallop in the second play of the fourth quarter.

* * *

Seemingly trapped on the Wildcat 41, Willy Wynn lateraled the ball to Reynold Bell who continued the journey to the goal unbothered.

Just as Coach Al Fendrick was considering giving his third string some valuable playing time the Wildcats got hot and took their second fall out of the Rams.

Featuring expert pile driving by T. Saunders, they marched sixty yards in eight plays and scored their second touchdown. This time N. Thomas made good his drop kick and ended the afternoon's scoring.

Coach Fendrick was well pleased with his lads after the game, saying they were better right now than at any time last season.

However, he said, much of the blocking especially around the ends still looks amateurish in the extreme.

* * *

"The boys just aren't moving the men out of the places I want the runners to go," he said. "The blocking done in the backfield was nothing brilliant today either for that matter, but in the line itself it was good. There were no happy Wildcats showing up unexpectedly in our backyard."

* * *

Most brilliant playing done for the New London team was performed by Saunders. Wearing Red Grange's old numeral number, "77," he moved his considerable form with precision and power constantly amazing the left side of the Madison line during the first half.

In the second half, Madison started nailing him regularly instead of periodically and changed the picture.

Coach Fendrick laid the victory of his team to their better condition.

* * *

"We won simply because we had more 'stuff' left at the end of the game than the Wildcats," he explained.

Musketeers, Raiders Win

Gates of Mercy Shut As Season Starts.

(By Associated Press)

The gates of mercy were slammed shut as the 1941 Ohio collegiate football parade rolled into high gear last night.

* * *

Mount Union drubbed Hiram 40 to 0, Dayton flattened Hillsdale, Mich., 62 to 0, and Coach Clem Crowe's talk of "Pigskin Parity" proved to be just talk as his Xavier University eleven romped to a 53 to 6 triumph over Georgetown, Ky.

* * *

Crowe's Musketeers, by pre-arrangement, donated the Georgetowners a touchdown after the opening kick-off "to give the visitors a chance and provide the fans with a novelty."

As soon as the gesture was done, the Musketeers went to work. At the final whistle, they had 10 touchdowns and three extra points to their credit and Georgetown still had that donated one touchdown.

Mount Union's Purple Raiders, who won not a game last year, ran wild for six touchdowns and four extra points against Hiram at Alliance. Little "Chuck" Sell scored four times for the Raiders and set up two more touchdown opportunities with long gallops.

* * *

It was the same story as Dayton University's Flyers opened their campaign against Hillsdale at Dayton. Bill Knisely, junior back from Xenia, ran 65 yards on the first scrimmage for a touchdown without a tackler laying a hand on him.

Birds Win First Playoff Fracas

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The champion Columbus Red Birds got a toe-hold today in their battle to accomplish what no other American Association club has done since 1937—win both the pennant and the Governor's cup playoff crown.

* * *

Displaying the same power at the plate and the same pitching excellence that gave them the flag, the Birds trounced the Louisville Colonels 8 to 1 in the first game of the final playoff series last night.

* * *

The Birds themselves were last to take the double laurels; and then they went even further and whipped Newark for the little world series championship.

Canton McKinley Does It All, 62-0

CANTON — Canton McKinley's football juggernaut blitzed Canton Timken Tech, 62-0, before 17,000 here last night in Fawcett stadium.

Jack Cridera, halfback, was the outstanding Bull Dog player. During the evening he reeled off 33 of his team's points with 54, 24, 58 and 15-yard runs.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

In Moscow's zoo the lions and bears don't mind the air raids. The ostriches, racoons, bison and deer are scared to death. The monkeys can't stand a blackout but the elephants are wonderful. They've proved good assistants to the firemen. When some incendiary bombs fell nearby, the elephants rushed to the pond, filled their trunks with water and squirted on the bombs until they went out.

* * *

* * *

A chipmunk is not fooled by had nuts, even if they are among good ones. He instinctively rejects bad nuts. Whether he senses that the nut's weight is not normal, or whether he smells it or whether he simply sees it is of poor quality, is not known.

* * *

Men who get a kick out of hunting and fishing, will get even greater enjoyment by taking along some boy. He'll have lots of fun and so will you, and you can teach him valuable lessons of good sportsmanship and conservation. For upon the shoulders of the little lads rests the entire future of our wildlife.

Great Guns! You'll find a lot of them at Yuncker's, including such famous makes as Winchester, Remington, L. C. Smith, Ithaca, Mossberg and others, in a wide range of models, gauges, chokes and barrel lengths. Yuncker's offer a convenient budget plan, if you choose.

The Zebra's stripes are useful to him. At night, the design of his body helps hide him from his enemy, the lion. To the eye it causes him to fade away against the background.

LEADING STOCKS SLIP AGAIN IN EARLY TRADING

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks continued to slip small fractions in today's early market proceedings.

Off a shade at a quiet opening were Goodyear, Boeing, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda and Sears Roebuck. Contesting the trend with minor advances were Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania and Standard Oil (NJ).

Market analysts saw a moderately encouraging indicator in the summary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association placing lumber production last week at 14 per cent above the preceding week and 10 per cent ahead of the comparable period of 1940.

Notice was taken of the forecast of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics that the impact of priorities on private industries would bring a decline in the rate of expansion of consumer demand for farm products in the next three months.

The bureau said: "Industrial activity has about stopped rising, partly as the result of the diversion of materials from civilian use to defense."

MOOSE ELECT, PREPARE FOR PARADE MARCH

Others to be installed are Elmer T. Phillips of Youngstown, vice president; Capt. N. K. Brumbaugh of Youngstown, sergeant-at-arms, Robert C. Knee of Dayton, state secretary, remains at that post for another year.

Also adopted was a resolution making Dudley Outcalt, of Cincinnati, Hamilton county common pleas judge an honorary past state president. Outcalt was a vice president and was to have been advanced to the presidency this year but was unable to serve because, as a member of the U. S. army reserve corps, he is subject to military service.

Other resolutions thanked civic organizations and individuals for their support and assistance in staging the convention. The Mansfield Eagles lodge and Baku Grotto assisted the Moose in providing quarters for convention sessions.

At the opening meeting yesterday William Anderson, general governor from Indianapolis, congratulated Ohio Moose members by saying that "reports show a gain of 10,000 members and 14 new lodges in Ohio for 1941."

Following the meeting last night, officers of the organization held a social dinner at the North Lake park pavilion and moved to the Eagles lodge where 620 Mansfield candidates were initiated.

"This is probably the largest single class of candidates ever initiated at one time," Earl McFarland, convention chairman, asserted.

Sen. J. J. Davis of Pennsylvania, Lee W. Ryon of Bradford, Pa., and Mayor W. J. Locke addressed candidates.

Senator Davis, acting in his capacity as director general and Pilgram director of the lodge, will tell the story of the "Golden Ball" today at an alumni banquet scheduled to begin at 7 p. m. in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

U. S. Senator Harold Burton of Cleveland, will also address the meeting.

Following Senator Davis on the banquet program, Matthew M. Neeley, supreme lodge governor and the governor of West Virginia, will deliver an address.

Tomorrow, after attending services at Mansfield churches, Moose members will attend a fellowship luncheon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel and at 3 p. m. newly elected state officers will meet in the hotel.

A dinner honoring Ohio's 25 club at the hotel at 5 p. m. will conclude all activities of the convention. The club is made up of members who have obtained 25 or more lodge memberships.

District No. 1: Gunard Shoblom of Hamilton, president; Edward Lamping of Elmwood place, vice-president.

District No. 5: Paul Ritchie, Mansfield, president; R. J. Pahl, Carey, vice-president.

District No. 6: Lem Underwood, Mt. Vernon, president; Fritz A. McElroy, Newark, vice-president.

District No. 7: Harold Whitelus, Coshocton, president; Harold Totten, Cambridge, vice-president.

District No. 8: Enoch Allen, Ironton, president; J. Sanford Evans, Jackson, vice-president.

District No. 10: Carl Carper, Ashtabula, president; Russel Woods, Cuyahoga Falls, vice-president.

Offers Autoists Advice On How To Save Gasoline

TOPEKA, Kan.—(INS)—Madame LaZonga and her famous "six lessons" had nothing on D. J. Fair, Kansas highway director, who recently listed a half-dozen instructions designed to give motorists more mileage per gallon of gasoline.

2—Inflate tires properly, both for longer wearing and less resistence to pulling;

3—Park cars in the shade, whenever possible, as fuel vaporizes easily in hot weather through the tiny air hole in the gas tank cap;

4—Keep batteries well-charged to avoid waste through slow grinding starts;

6—Learn the economies of gasoline consumption by proper driving practices.

ed doubt that any British planes visited Berlin, but said it was possible that Russian aircraft may have attacked the German capital.

Meanwhile, two members of the R. A. F. American Eagle squadron were officially listed as missing following yesterday's daylight sweeps over occupied territory, during which the Eagle squadron was credited with shooting down two Messerschmitts.

One of the missing American pilots was "Little Tommy" McGurdie of Pasadena, Cal. The other was not identified.

Nazis Admit Raids Over North Germany

BERLIN —(INS)— British bombers during the night raided several cities in northern Germany, dropping explosive and incendiary bombs which caused slight damage and a few casualties, German authorities announced today.

The communique said a few of the raiders attempted to penetrate as far as Berlin but failed. It added that fierce anti-aircraft fire shot down one RAF plane.

Luftwaffe bombers were declared to have sunk a 10,000-ton merchant ship and a 7,000-ton tanker in a convoy off the British east coast.

Report Nazis Shoot 12 More Hostages

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters quoted the Nazi-controlled Paris radio today as saying that the Germans in occupation of the French capital had shot 12 more "hostages" in reprisal for attacks on German soldiers.

An announcement by General Heinrich Von Steulpnagel, commander of German forces of occupation in France, was quoted as saying that the men went before the firing squad as reprisal for an attack on a German soldier three days ago.

Hold Kentuckian—Mansfield police are holding a Kentucky man on suspicion of attempted auto theft. A check is being made of his record and fingerprints and of the car which he was driving when taken into custody.

Bike Rider Hurt—Tony Weissgarber, 13, of 287 Fourth avenue, suffered cuts and bruises about the forehead, hips and knees yesterday when his bicycle collided with a Mansfield Rapid Transit bus on Wayne street near Orange. The youth told police the handlebars of the bike were hit by the bus and he was thrown to the pavement.

Reception Sunday — Dr. R. P. Barrett of Pasadena, Calif., former Mansfield resident, and past commander-in-chief of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will be honored with a reception at Johns park pavilion Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Members of the local group are sponsoring the open house to which his old friends and acquaintances are invited. A covered dish supper will be served at 5:30 p. m.

VOTE ON STRIKE

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Tom Hendricks, representative of the CIO United Automobile Workers of America, said a strike vote would be taken tomorrow among CIO member employes of the International Harvester Co. here. Company and union officials have conferred for two weeks on a new wage agreement, but neither side would comment on demands.

JURY RETURNS 37 INDICTMENTS

3 Charges In Auto Deaths; Kozma Facing Firearms Count In Shooting.

OPS RECEIVES U. S. WARNING

Commission Tells Company It Faces Possible Prosecution In Newark Power Dispute.

35,000 kilowatt generating unit in our Warren plant, and we therefore have ample capacity to meet all present and anticipated power requirements in our territory."

The commission said that the purpose of the proposed disconnection was to bring about immediate determination of a current proceeding in which the commission accuses the company of failing to comply with accounting requirements and the uniform system of accounts. A spokesman for the commission added that the step apparently was designed to remove Ohio Public Service from interstate commerce and, thereby from the jurisdiction of the commission.

(In Columbus, Dennis F. Dunlavy of the Ohio public utilities commission said the federal agency contends that Ohio Public Service is engaged in interstate commerce because of its purchase of current from the Ohio Power company's plant at Philo, O., which serves points in West Virginia and Indiana.

A hearing had been set by the Ohio commission for Oct. 8 to determine whether the disconnection—"if it takes place"—violates state law, Dunlavy added.)

T. O. Kennedy, president of Public Service, returned to Cleveland last night from here. Neither he nor associates made any comment on the commission's statement.

TILLIE THE TOILER

THOSE TOBER BOYS ARE CRAZY ABOUT THE RANVILLE TWINS AND IT SERVES ALL FOUR OF 'EM RIGHT
I'LL PROPOSE TO TILLIE BEFORE SHE MEETS ANY MORE HANDSOME GUYS
ALL SET FOR FISHING, TILLIE?
YEP, ALL WE NEED NOW IS THE BOAT
9-15
YOU WANT A BOAT, DO YOU?
YES, AND WE'RE IN A RUSH TO GET STARTED. ERRRR
RUSS COZSTOVER
GOOD-BYE, I HOPE YOU CATCH THE LIMIT
THANK YOU
GRRR
YOU SURE WERE IN A HURRY TO GET AWAY FROM THAT BOAT-HOUSE
WHY NOT, WITH THAT HANDSOME GUY THERE?
I TRUST YOU TO KEEP ME AWAY FROM THE HANDSOME MEN
YEAH, FOR ONCE I SUCCEEDED
GRRRR
RUSS COZSTOVER
9-16
I WON'T PINCH YOU—YOU CAN RUN UP TO THE STORE AND GET YOUR FISHING LICENSES
OH, THANK YOU
I'LL STAY HERE TILL YOU GET BACK, MAC.
NO, YOU COME ALONG
THAT'S TWICE YOU'VE BEEN IN A HURRY TO GET ME AWAY FROM A HANDSOME MAN
YEAH, MY LUCK'S BEEN GOOD TODAY
9-17
ER, ER, SAY, I HAVEN'T GOT A CENT WITH ME
CLICK
RUSS COZSTOVER
WELL, I GOT THE FISHING LICENSES WITHOUT TILLIE MEETING THAT HANDSOME STORE-KEEPER
9-18
I BELIEVE YOU PLAYED A TRICK, SO I WOULDN'T MEET THAT CHAP IN THE STORE
SUPPOSE I DID?
THREE TIMES AND OUT. THAT SHOULD BE ALL THE HANDSOME GUYS TODAY
OH, TILLIE
THERE'S A MAJOR LEAGUE BALL CLUB HAVING AN OPEN DATE AND THEY'RE ALL ON THE LAKE FISHING
RUSS COZSTOVER
WHAT? GOING OUT ON THE LAKE WHEN THERE'S A WHOLE MAJOR LEAGUE BALL CLUB THERE?
HEH-HEH—YOU DIDN'T FOOL ME—I FOUND OUT YOU WERE KIDDING
LOOK, TILLIE, DOESN'T THAT CLOUD SET YOU THINKING? IT LOOKS LIKE A LITTLE WHITE COTTAGE ON A HILL
BUT MAC, LOOK AT THAT ONE
DOESN'T IT MAKE YOU THINK OF A GRASPING LANDLORD?
RUSS COZSTOVER
9-19
TILLIE, THERE'S SOMETHING I WANT TO SAY TO YOU
I EXPECTED THIS
BUT, TILLIE
NOW DON'T PROPOSE AGAIN—THAT'S WHAT YOU BROUGHT ME HERE FOR, I KNOW
SURE, AT LAST WE'RE ABSOLUTELY ALONE
EXCUSE ME FOR STARTLING YOU—I'M JUST TRYING OUT MY ONE-MAN SUBMARINE

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

HONEST ZERO, I GOT THE WIM-WAMS SOMETHIN' AWFUL — LOOKS LIKE EVERYONE IN THE WHOLE TOWN IS MAD AT ME — AN' I GUESS IT'S ALL MY FAULT
WHEN I FIRST CAME HERE WITH CAPTAIN AN' MRS. JIM SALTEE, EVERYTHING WAS GRAND — ALL THE FOLKS WERE NICE AN' FRIENDLY —
BUT WHEN CAPTAIN JIM SAILED 'WAY OFF TO CHINA ON HIS TRADING SHIP, HE COULDN'T TAKE ME ALONG — SO I WENT TO LIVE AT HIS SON, CAPTAIN ROBERT'S HOUSE —
CAPTAIN ROBERT IS TERRIBLE RICH AN' HIS WIFE AN' DAUGHTER ARE VERY PROUD AN' SNOOTY — THEY PRETEND THEY LIKE ME, BUT THEY DON'T — 'CAUSE I OVERHEARD 'EM SAYING THEY WISHT THEY KNEW SOME WAY TO GET RID OF ME!
DARRELL McCLURE
BEG PARDON, MISS ANNIE — HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN MRS ROBERT WISHES TO SEE YOU RIGHT AFTER BREAKFAST
THANK YOU — I'LL GO RIGHT AWAY
— I'M SORRY TO MISS THE BRIDGE PARTY, BUT MOTHER INSISTS I MUST TAKE THAT LITTLE PEST ANNIE ROONEY OUT FOR A RIDE THIS AFTERNOON —
OH, MOTHER, YOU STARTLED ME — I WAS JUST TELLING MABELLE I COULDN'T ATTEND HER PARTY —
I HEARD YOU — WHY, GLORIA, YOU MUST BE INSANE TO DISCUSS OUR FAMILY TROUBLE OVER THE TELEPHONE!
— THAT CHATTERBOX, MABELLE, WILL REPEAT WHAT YOU SAID — WE'LL BE THE LAUGHING-STOCK OF THE TOWN WHEN THEY LEARN OUR DEAR LITTLE ORPHAN HAS CHANGED TO A WHITE ELEPHANT!!
DARRELL McCLURE
DID YOU EVER SEE A WHITE ELEPHANT?
NO MISS — I NEVER DID — THAT IS, A REAL LIVE WHITE ELEPHANT — THERE'S PLENTY OF THE OTHER KIND
WHAT KIND IS THE OTHER KIND OF WHITE ELEPHANTS?
THERE ISN'T REALLY ANY OF THE OTHER KIND —
WHEN FOLKS SAY THEY HAVE A WHITE ELEPHANT ON THEIR HANDS THEY MEAN SOME USELESS THING THAT IS A BURDEN TO THEM —
OH — THAT'S WHAT A WHITE ELEPHANT IS
I'M NOT GONNA CRY ANY MORE, ZERO — MRS. ROBERT SEZ I'M A WHITE ELEPHANT THAT THEY CAN'T GET RID OF — BUT ACTIN' LIKE A BAWL BABY WON'T DO ANY GOOD
DARRELL McCLURE
CAPTAIN EZRA DID YOU EVER HAVE A WHITE ELEPHANT ON YOUR HANDS?
PLENTY OF THEM — THE WORST ONE WAS A DEAD WHALE — CAST UP ON THE BEACH IN FRONT OF MY SHIPYARD
NOW A DEAD WHALE IS NOT AS FRAGRANT AS A ROSE GARDEN — THE MEN WERE ALL READY TO STRIKE BEFORE I COULD GET RID OF IT —
BUT DON'T TELL ME YOU HAVE A WHITE ELEPHANT ON YOUR HANDS — IF I CAN HELP —
NO — I HEARD SOMEONE SAY THEY HAD A WHITE ELEPHANT ON THEIR HANDS
— AN' I WANTED TO MAKE SURE WHAT IT WAS
I FIGGER MOST PEOPLE HAVE HAD TROUBLE WITH WHITE ELEPHANTS — THEY ARE A LOT LIKE NIGHTMARES — YOU ARE ALWAYS GLAD WHEN THEY'RE GONE
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO, I WISHT I WAS SMART ENOUGH TO KNOW WHAT TO DO — MRS ROBERT SEZ I'M A WHITE ELEPHANT ON HER HANDS — AN I GUESS I AM
ALL THE FOLKS IN TOWN DON'T LIKE ME ANY MORE 'CAUSE THEY THINK I'M PROUD AN' STUCK UP 'CAUSE I LIVE IN A BIG, SWELL HOUSE WITH RICH FOLKS —
COAL
ALL I DO IS CAUSE TROUBLE — IF I COULD ONLY GO AWAY SOME PLACE —
STEP LIVELY, LADS — DON'T FORGET WE HAVE TO HAVE THIS COAL STOWED AWAY ON THE SHIP BEFORE HIGH TIDE
"STOWED AWAY"? GEE, MAYBE I COULD GET ON A SHIP AN BE A STOWAWAY LIKE CAPTAIN EZRA WAS, WHEN HE WAS JUST A LITTLE BOY!!
DARRELL McCLURE
OKAY — CAST OFF THE HAWSER
HOLD HER STEADY AS SHE GOES
BLAST THIS FOG — IT'S THICKER THAN GLUE!!
TUG NO 3
GEE, ZERO — WE GOTTA FIND SOMEPLACE TO HIDE, QUICK, BEFORE ANYBODY SEES US!
DARRELL McCLURE

SECRET AGENT X-9

INSPECTOR HALL WANTS TO COOPERATE IN BRINGING "LADY" TO BOOK .. SUITS ME — THE JAILS OVER HERE ARE AS SNUG AS OURS!
HELLO, HILARY! WHAT'S UP?
SHE'S HERE, X-9! RIGHT HERE IN LONDON!
WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT? WHO'S HERE?
"LADY"! I JUST CAME FROM THE BANK! SHE'S BEEN THERE — CLEANED OUT EVERYTHING FROM MY PRIVATE VAULT — HALF A MILLION POUNDS!
IT'S FANTASTIC! THE BANK OFFICIAL CLAIMS SHE CAME THERE WITH ME TODAY AND THAT I OPENED THE VAULT, MYSELF! I WASN'T EVEN NEAR THE BANK WHEN IT HAPPENED!
LET'S GET AROUND TO THE BANK! CAB!
I REPEAT, SIR .. THIS GENTLEMAN, MR HILARY, WAS HERE THIS MORNING WITH A LADY — ER, QUITE AN ATTRACTIVE LADY — AND WITHDREW ALL HIS FUNDS FROM HIS PRIVATE VAULT!
BUT THAT'S NOT TRUE, X-9! I WAS AT MY HOTEL!
MY DEAR FELLOW — HERE IS YOUR SIGNATURE ON THIS RECEIPT!
LET ME SEE THAT, PLEASE!
MATCHES YOUR SIGNATURE, HILARY — TOO EXACTLY! IT WAS DONE WITH SOME SORT OF STAMP! MR AUSTIN, DID YOU NOTICE WHICH WAY THOSE TWO PEOPLE TURNED, AS THEY LEFT?
NO. BUT THEIR MOTOR WAS PARKED JUST OUTSIDE, SIR, AND I DID NOTICE SOME LUGGAGE IN IT!
"LADY" FIXED UP A DOUBLE FOR YOU — THEN FAKED YOUR SIGNATURE AND GRABBED ALL THE DOUGH IN THE VAULT! PROBABLY OUT OF THE COUNTRY BY NOW! WE'VE GOT TO SEE INSPECTOR HALL AT SCOTLAND YARD!
TWO AND A HALF MILLION! OH H!
INSPECTOR HALL'S OFFICE IN SCOTLAND YARD
SO YOU FIGURE "LADY" TOOK OFF ON THE LISBON PLANE, EARLY THIS MORNING, INSPECTOR?
QUITE! THE PLANE OFFICIALS SAY THAT A WOMAN ANSWERING HER DESCRIPTION BOARDED THE PLANE, ACCOMPANIED BY A MAN RESEMBLING MR HILARY!
WHEN DOES THE NEXT PLANE LEAVE FOR LISBON?
NEXT WEEK! THESE ARE WAR TIMES, X-9, AND SERVICE IS FAR FROM NORMAL!
BLAZES! SHE CAN BE BACK IN HER OWN COUNTRY BY THAT TIME — WITH HALF A MILLION POUNDS IN STOLEN CASH! WE'VE GOT TO GET THERE TODAY!
I LIKE YOU AMERICANS — ALWAYS IN A RUSH! AN ARMY PLANE WILL TAKE OFF FOR GIBRALTAR WITHIN THE HOUR! THERE IS ROOM FOR US WE CAN MAKE FURTHER CONNECTIONS FROM THERE!
LET'S GO!
MAKING CONNECTIONS BY LAND, SEA AND AIR, X-9 AND INSPECTOR HALL REACH LISBON ..
I'VE MADE INQUIRIES, INSPECTOR — THERE'S BEEN NO TRAIN OUT OF HERE IN TWO DAYS!
GOOD! OUR FRIEND, "LADY," IS STILL HERE THEN! BUT WHERE? THIS IS A BIG TOWN, CROWDED WITH REFUGEES FROM ALL OVER EUROPE!
LATER
RIGHTO!
LOOK! HERE COMES "LADY" NOW — WITH A MILITARY CONVOY!
QUITE!
WAITER, WHO IS THE BEAUTIFUL WOMAN SITTING WITH THOSE OFFICERS?
I DO NOT KNOW HER NAME, SEÑOR „ SHE ARRIVED BY PLANE, ONLY YESTERDAY!
TELL HER THAT TWO ADMIRERS WOULD BE DELIGHTED TO HAVE HER JOIN THEM.
BUT YES, SEÑOR!
WHO? OH —! WHY, OF COURSE I WILL!
X-9! AND INSPECTOR HALL OF SCOTLAND YARD! I AM SWEPT OFF MY FEET! THEY TELL ME HALF A MILLION POUNDS HAVE BEEN STOLEN FROM MR. HILARY! HOW AWFULLY EXCITING FOR YOU TWO FLATFEET!
WON'T YOU SIT DOWN, "LADY"?
WELL, "LADY" — HOW ABOUT THE DOUGH YOU STOLE FROM HILARY'S VAULT AT THE BANK IN LONDON?
YES — HOW ABOUT IT?
WHERE IS IT?
YOU TALK AS IF I WERE YOUR COMMON GARDEN VARIETY OF CROOK! THAT MONEY BELONGS TO MY GOVERNMENT AND IT'S GONE HOME TO ROOST!
..AND SO AM I! I'm ALLERGIC TO NIGHT AIR AND FLATFEET! SEE YOU IN THE FIVE-AND-TEN!
A GLAMOUR GAL LIKE YOU NEEDS SQUIRING IN A ROUGH TOWN LIKE THIS! MY ARM — OKAY, PUPPIES ... YOU'LL GET YOUR RUN-AROUND AND NO FOOLIN'!

POLLY AND HER PALS

FATE
HAS SELECTED POLLY PERKINS FOR A ROLE IN A NEW PLAY
SHE IS STILL DAZZLED BY HER GOOD FORTUNE AS SHE GOES TO HER FIRST REHEARSAL.
I'M THE NEW ACTRESS.... REPORTING FOR REHEARSAL.
WELL.... GOOD LUCK TO YOU!
STAG ENTRAN
KEEP OU
HEY! YOU'RE WALKIN' RIGHT UNDER THAT LADDER! IT'S BAD LUCK...
OH, THAT'S AN OLD WIVES' TALE. I'M NOT SUPERSTITIOUS!
IT'S YER RABBIT'S FOOT!
THIS IS POLLY PERKINS. SHE'S JOINING OUR CAST.
LO, POLLY!
HOWDY
HELLO, DEARIE. I'M MR. BONSON'S WIFE.
POLLY, THE FIRST THING TO REMEMBER IS, THAT THERE IS ONLY ONE PERSON GIVING ORDERS HERE... ONE BOSS!
THE STAGE HANDS WANT TO KNOW WHEN WE'LL HAVE OUR DRESS REHEARSAL?
I DON'T KNOW JUST WHAT TO SAY...
THAT'S EASY...
JUST TELL THEM I HAVEN'T DECIDED YET!
THE SHOW OPENS NEXT WEEK.... HOW WILL I EVER PREVENT STAGE FRIGHT?
IT'S EASY, DEARIE. I'LL SHOW YOU HOW I DO IT.
YOU SEE, DEARIE... I SELDOM THINK OF MY AUDIENCE WHEN I SPEAK.
OH.... OH.... OHH!..
OHHH... OOHH...
YOU SHOULD!!

I'M TAKING A COLLECTION FOR AN OLD ACTOR WHO IS TEMPORARILY DOWN ON HIS LUCK.
OH! I'VE HEARD OF THOSE PEOPLE, MR. SIMS..
I KNOW YOU'LL MAKE A SMALL DONATION... HE NEEDS MONEY TO EAT.
WHY, SURE MR. SIMS... IF YOU THINK HE'S WORTHY. HERE...
THERE'S NOTHING MORE GRATIFYING THAN GIVING TO AN HONEST CHARITY!
YES, I WAS LOST FOR MONTHS IN THE VERY DEPTHS OF THE AFRICAN JUNGLES! OH... IT WAS HORRIBLE!
...AND IT WAS ONLY A MONTH AFTER THE SHIPWRECK I TOLD YOU ABOUT...
HI, THERE!
I'M TRYING TO LEARN MY PART IN THE SHOW. WILL YOU LISTEN TO MY LINES?
WHY NOT?
WE'VE BEEN LISTENING TO A LOT OF OTHERS.
I DON'T KNOW WHO YOU ARE, BUT....
SLAP!
OW!!
WHAT HAPPENED?
THAT OLD CODGER TRIED TO FLIRT WITH ME!
WHY, THE WAY HE ACTED YOU'D THINK HE OWNED THE THEATRE!
WHY... WHAT'S THE MATTER?
OOOOOHH!
HE DOES OWN IT!!

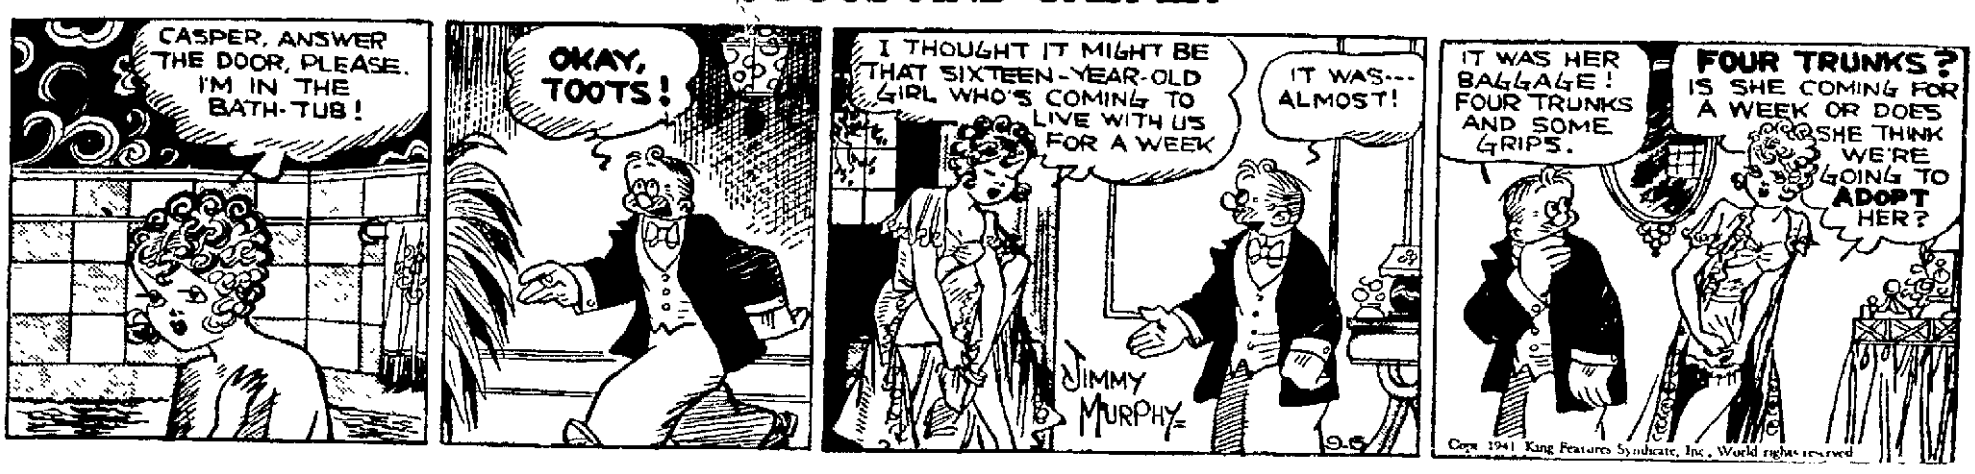
TOOTS AND CASPER



CASPER, ANSWER THE DOOR, PLEASE. I'M IN THE BATH-TUB!
OKAY, TOOTS!
I THOUGHT IT MIGHT BE THAT SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL WHO'S COMING TO LIVE WITH US FOR A WEEK
IT WAS--- ALMOST!
JIMMY MURPHY
IT WAS HER BAGGAGE! FOUR TRUNKS AND SOME GRIPS.
FOUR TRUNKS? IS SHE COMING FOR A WEEK OR DOES SHE THINK WE'RE GOING TO ADOPT HER?
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved

GOOD-HEAVENS, FOUR TRUNKS AND ALL THOSE GRIPS! CASPER, YOU SAID THAT GIRL WILL BE WITH US FOR ONLY ONE WEEK.
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
MAYBE TWO WEEKS, TOOTS!
WHY DIDN'T YOU SAY SO IN THE FIRST PLACE?
SHE MAY BE WITH US THREE WEEKS, BUT MORE LIKELY A MONTH
A MONTH?
SURE! I BROKE THE NEWS TO YOU VERY GRADUALLY! IF I HAD BARGED IN AND SAID A MONTH YOU'D HAVE COLLAPSED FROM THE SHOCK.
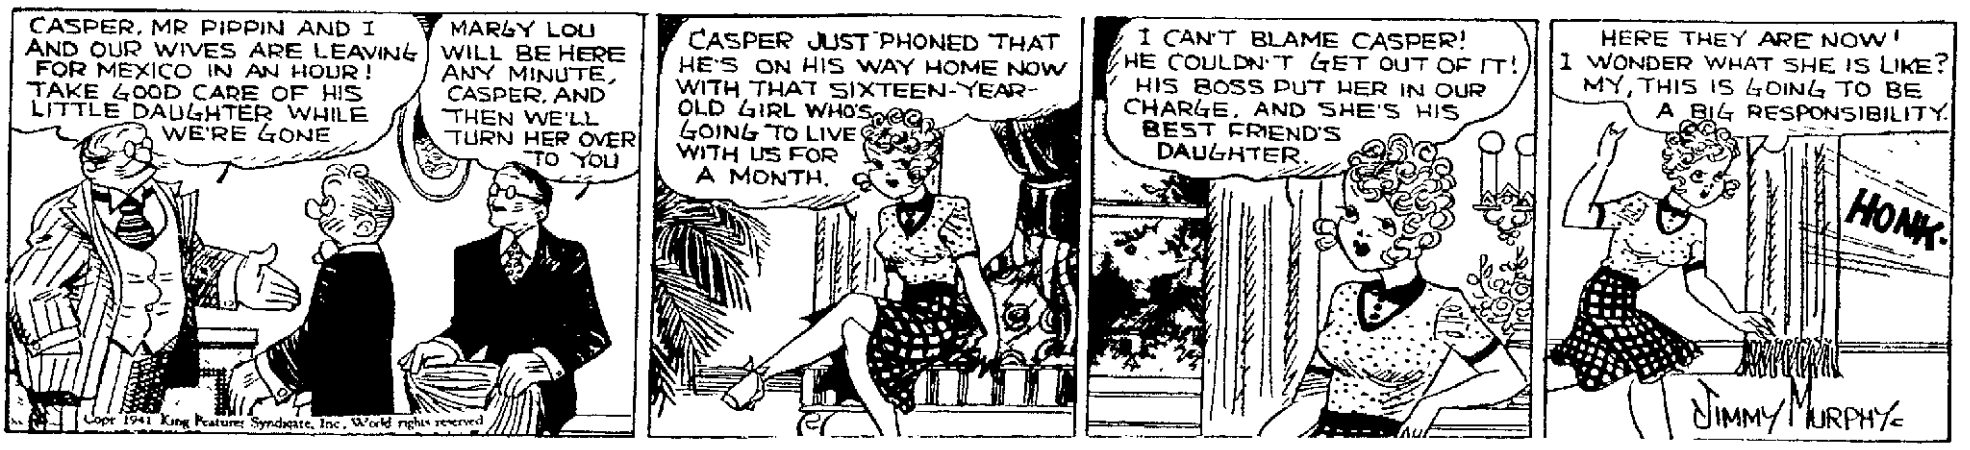
JIMMY MURPHY



CASPER, MR PIPPIN AND I AND OUR WIVES ARE LEAVING FOR MEXICO IN AN HOUR! TAKE GOOD CARE OF HIS LITTLE DAUGHTER WHILE WE'RE GONE
MARGY LOU WILL BE HERE ANY MINUTE, CASPER, AND THEN WE'LL TURN HER OVER TO YOU
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
CASPER JUST PHONED THAT HE'S ON HIS WAY HOME NOW WITH THAT SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL WHO'S GOING TO LIVE WITH US FOR A MONTH.
I CAN'T BLAME CASPER! HE COULDN'T GET OUT OF IT! HIS BOSS PUT HER IN OUR CHARGE, AND SHE'S HIS BEST FRIEND'S DAUGHTER.
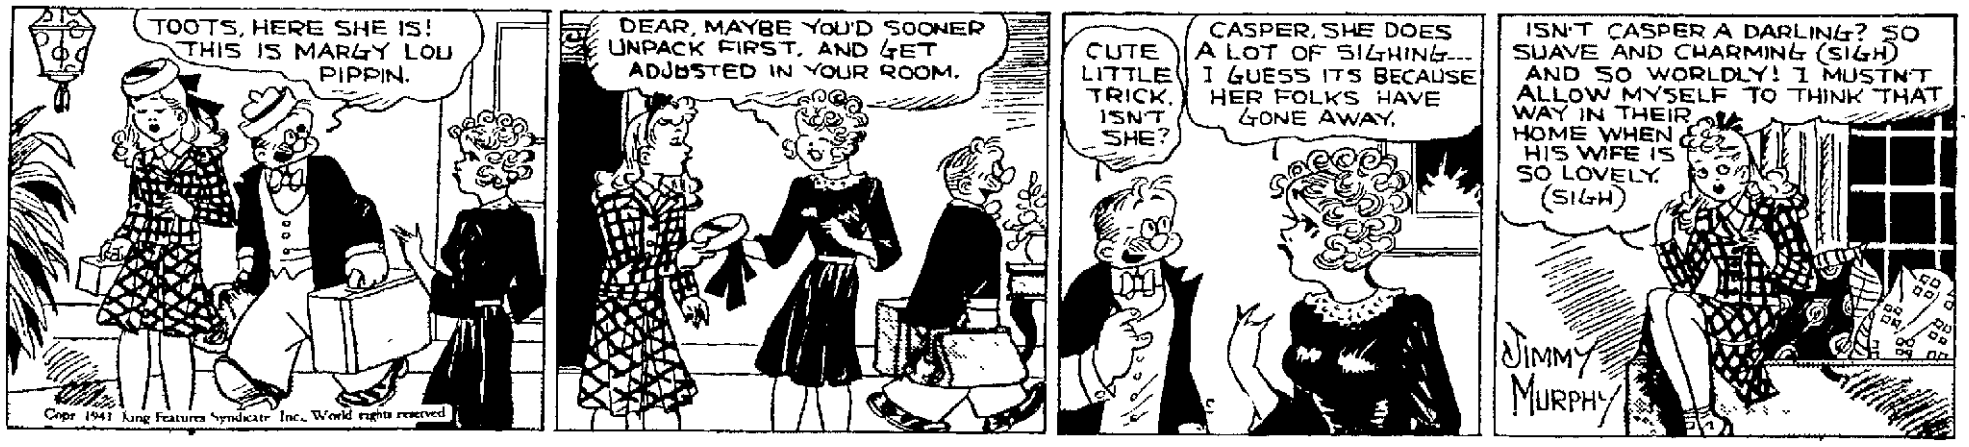
HONK.
JIMMY MURPHY



TOOTS, HERE SHE IS! THIS IS MARGY LOU PIPPIN.

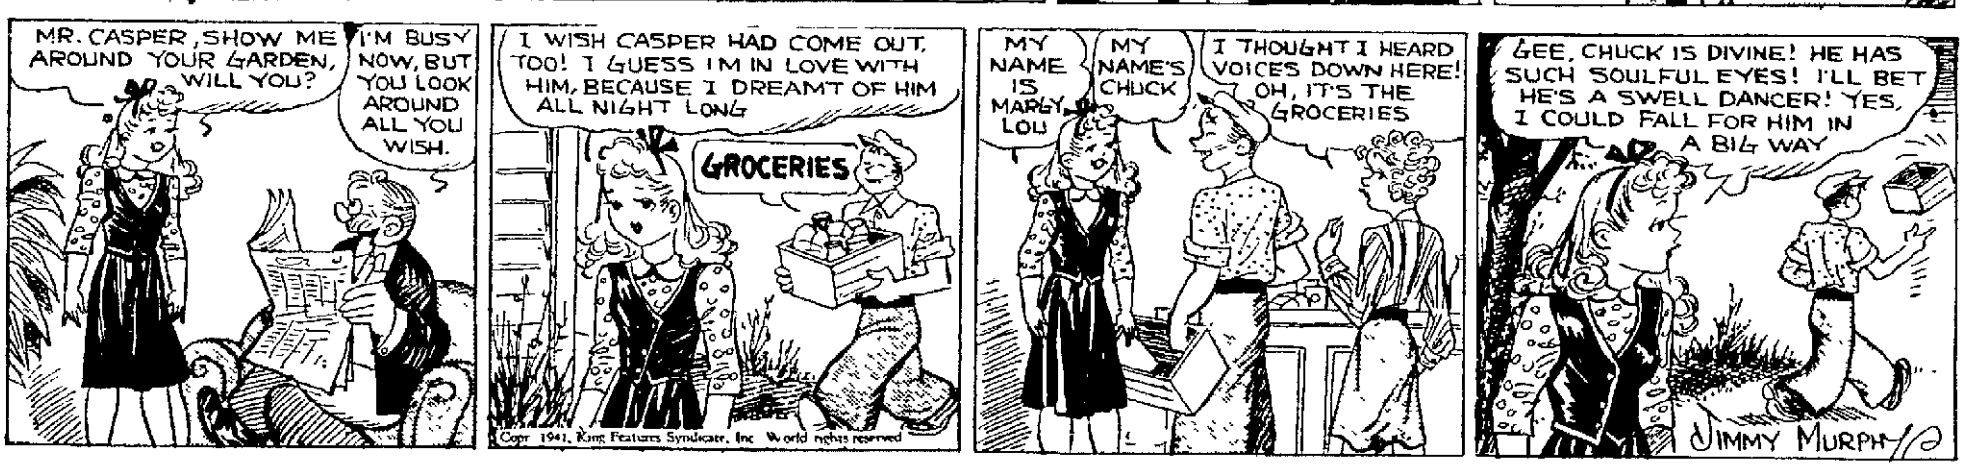
DEAR, MAYBE YOU'D SOONER UNPACK FIRST, AND GET ADJUSTED IN YOUR ROOM.
CUTE LITTLE TRICK, ISN'T SHE?
CASPER, SHE DOES A LOT OF SIGHING--- I GUESS IT'S BECAUSE HER FOLKS HAVE GONE AWAY.
ISN'T CASPER A DARLING? SO SUAVE AND CHARMING (SIGH) AND SO WORLDLY! I MUSTN'T ALLOW MYSELF TO THINK THAT WAY IN THEIR HOME WHEN HIS WIFE IS SO LOVELY. (SIGH)
JIMMY MURPHY



MR. CASPER, SHOW ME AROUND YOUR GARDEN, WILL YOU?
I'M BUSY NOW, BUT YOU LOOK AROUND ALL YOU WISH.
I WISH CASPER HAD COME OUT, TOO! I GUESS I'M IN LOVE WITH HIM, BECAUSE I DREAMT OF HIM ALL NIGHT LONG GROCERIES

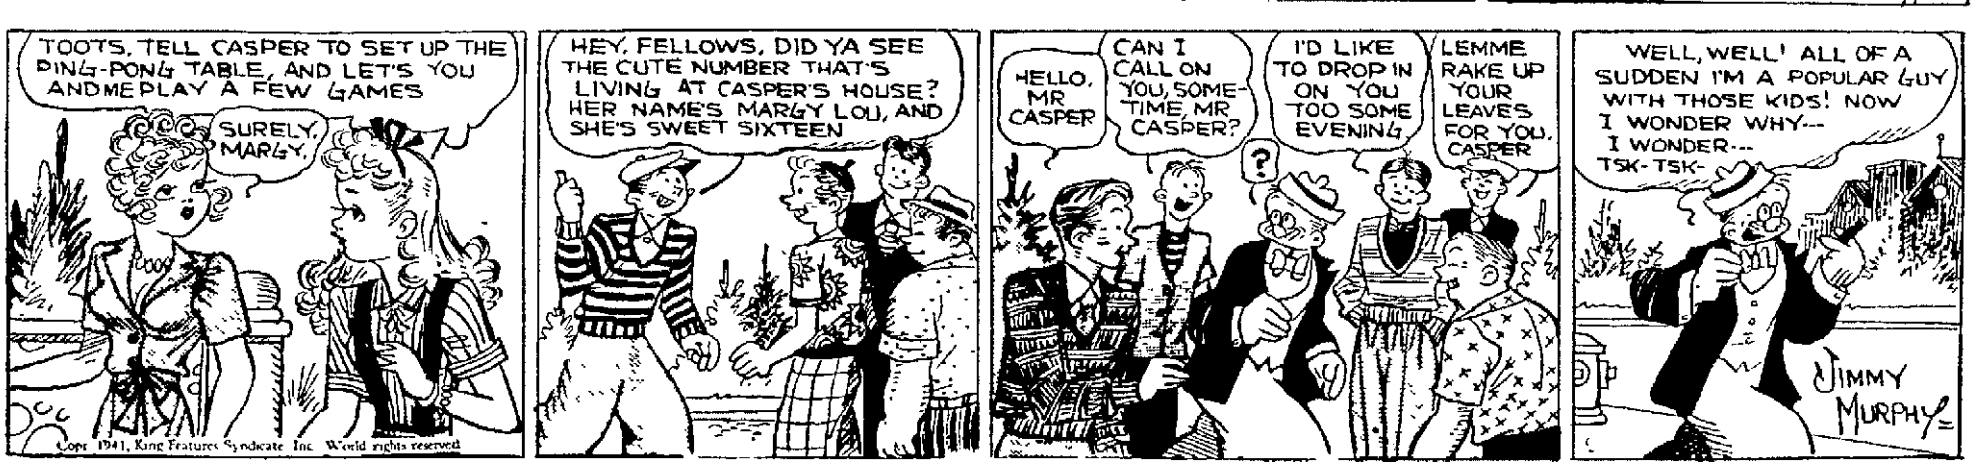
MY NAME IS MARGY LOU
MY NAME'S CHUCK
I THOUGHT I HEARD VOICES DOWN HERE! OH, IT'S THE GROCERIES
GEE, CHUCK IS DIVINE! HE HAS SUCH SOULFUL EYES! I'LL BET HE'S A SWELL DANCER! YES, I COULD FALL FOR HIM IN A BIG WAY
JIMMY MURPHY



TOOTS, TELL CASPER TO SET UP THE PING-PONG TABLE, AND LET'S YOU AND ME PLAY A FEW GAMES
SURELY, MARGY.
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
HEY, FELLOWS, DID YA SEE THE CUTE NUMBER THAT'S LIVING AT CASPER'S HOUSE? HER NAME'S MARGY LOU, AND SHE'S SWEET SIXTEEN
HELLO, MR CASPER
CAN I CALL ON YOU, SOMETIME, MR CASPER?
I'D LIKE TO DROP IN ON YOU TOO SOME EVENING

ETTA KETT

I'VE GOT NEWS ! GOOD NEWS ! I'VE DECIDED NOT TO DISCONTINUE THE SCHOOL PAPER !
OH, HOW MARVELOUSLY MARVELOUS !
THATTA BOY, DEAN !
THANKS TO OUR GRAND OLD ALUMNUS, MR HOLLETT, HERE ! TO CARRY ON IS HIS IDEA !
FORGET IT !
OUR FIRST EDITORIAL WILL BE ABOUT WHAT A SWELL EGG YOU ARE, DAD !
WE AGREED THAT A LITTLE RESPONSIBILITY ON YOUR SHOULDERS WOULD DO YOU GOOD --
THE PAPER NEVER DID PAY -- NOW ITS BANKRUPT !
DONT EXPECT ANY FINANCIAL HELP FROM THE SCHOOL -- SO, AS THE COACH WOULD SAY -- "IT'S YOUR BABY NOW" - IF YOU WANT IT ?
WELL --- WHAT CAN WE LOSE ?
HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT WITH THE DEAN ? SAVE THE PAPER ?
WHAT THERE IS OF IT - ITS BANKRUPT
MEET JEFF HOLLETT -- THIS IS "SKETCH" HIGGINS - STAFF CARTOONIST
WITH THE PAPER ON THE ROCKS, YOU MUST HAVE BEEN THE ONLY ONE WHO WASNT USING RED INK AROUND HERE !
DONT DO THAT ! I'M THE GUY WHO'S SUPPOSED TO MAKE THE WISECRACKS !
THESE PRESSES SURE KEEP A SWELL CREASE IN MY PANTS !
FIRST THING WE GOTTA DO, IS GET THIS SHEET BACK ON ITS FEET ! ANY IDEAS ?
SURE ! ROUND UP THE STAFF FOR A BUSINESS MEETING AT MY HOUSE ! WE'LL HAVE A WORRY PARTY !
HAVE PLENTY OF EATS ! I WORRY BETTER ON A FULL STOMACH !
9-16
HANDS OFF ! THEY'RE FOR THE BUSINESS MEETING HERE TONIGHT !
THERE'S A NIBBLE ! WE'RE TRYING TO PUT OUR SCHOOL PAPER BACK ON A PAYING BASIS - GOT ANY IDEAS ?
NONE THAT WOULDN'T COST ME MONEY !
HI YA -- EDITOR !
HI YA, TREASURER ! YOU'RE LOOKING LIKE A CERTIFIED CHECK !
THEY'LL MAKE AN IDEAL BUSINESS TEAM ! DONT YOU THINK THEY SHOULD INCORPORATE ?
LOOKS MORE LIKE A HOLDING COMPANY TO ME !
HEY ! WHERE YOU GOING ? WHY STOP HERE ?
I WANT TO SELL THIS STORE AN AD IN THE SCHOOL PAPER ! BE RIGHT OUT !
SO THAT'S WHY SHE ASKED ME TO BRING MY CAR OVER ON THIS DATE !
I'M TIRED OF BEING PARKED OUT HERE !
SORRY ! COME INSIDE NEXT TIME ! TAKE ME OVER TO THE SODA SHOPPE !
NOW HERE'S A NICE DOUBLE PAGE, MR SMALTZ ! IF YOU TAKE TWO PAGES WE GIVE YOU ONE FREE !
I'LL THINK IT OVER !
HEY, ETTA ! THE PRINTER WANTS THOSE PROOFS OKAYED !
TELL HIM HE'LL GET HIS MONEY ! IF WE FOLD UP, WE'LL USE THE PRESS TO PRINT HIM SOME !
HOW BIG IS THAT AD TO RUN ?
HERE'S THE EDITORIAL ! LIKE YOUR JOB ?
LOVE IT ! OH -- SKETCH ! HURRY WITH THE CARTOONS !
DONT FORGET I'M THE MOVIE CRITIC ON THIS SHEET ! HOW ABOUT REVIEWING A PICTURE WITH ME TONIGHT ?
IT'S A DATE ! BE ON TIME !
I TRIED TO TAKE PICTURES OF THE NEW COACH AND HE BROKE UP MY CAMERA AND SOCKED ME ! HE'S PLENTY TOUGH !
WHO DOES HE THINK HE IS, -- A MOVIE STAR ? I'LL GET HIS PICTURE !
I'LL GO WITH YOU !
9-19
HI POP ! HOW'S NOSOIN KNOCKING ?
HELLO, ETTA ! HOW'S THE SCHOOL PAPER ? I HEAR YOU'RE RUNNING IT ?
YEP AND I LOVE IT ! I WANT PICTURES OF YOUR NEW ASSISTANT COACH !
YOU MEAN THE NEW HEAD COACH ! HE'S TAKING OVER MY JOB !
YOU MEAN THEY'RE LETTING YOU OUT ? OH, POP THEY CAN'T DO THAT -- I KNOW YOU'VE HAD A COUPLE BAD YEARS - BUT - THIS LOOKS LIKE THE WHISTLE FOR ME !
BUT - THINK OF ALL THE WINNERS YOU MADE FOR STATE ! THERE'S SOMETHING WRONG !
SCHOOL POLITICS ! AND YOU'D BETTER KEEP OUT - IT'S MY GRIEF !
9-20
